Powerful U.S. Support Promised South Koreans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was reported today to have decided to give powerful support to the hard-pressed military forces of South Korea.

It was learned here there has been a major policy decision to that effect. Almost simultaneously, reports from Tokyo quoted informed sources as saying American-manufactured bombers will bomb all towns held by the North Koreans south of the 38th parallel.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, declined comment on the Tokyo report.

The policy decision was the outcome of conferences President Truman held with top diplomatic and military officials.

The first two U.S. actions—arms aid to the South Korean forces and an American sponsored U.N. Security Council resolution ordering an end to the fighting—had failed to produce effective results.

The Tokyo report of plans to use American bombing planes is a development in accordance with Washington planning which apparently reached the point of firm decisions on Monday night.

Key to the U.S. policy decision, it was understood, is to be found in the concluding paragraph of the U.N. resolution adopted Sunday which called on all member countries to refrain from assisting the North Korean forces and give every assistance to the U.N. in line with the resolution.

SERVICE TO U.N.

Since the resolution called for a cease-fire all along the line and for withdrawal of North Korean forces from South Korea—neither of which has occurred—and since North Korean forces have been branded as the aggressors in the war, the American policy is reportedly based on the conviction that it is serving the purposes of the United Nations.

On one thing there was general agreement—that the attack by Russian-supported troops from the north must not be allowed to involve the United States in a world war.

The government is prepared, as President Truman declared Monday, to support vigorously the efforts by the U.N. Security Council to end the warfare.

NOT RUSHING TROOPS

A presidential adviser said the United States will go as far as it can within and in cooperation with the U.N. in the Korean crisis.

But, he said, the United States won't rush in any troops. He said every effort is being made to rush planes and heavy weapons to the aid of President Syngman Rhee. But, he noted, there is no reason for optimism that they will enable the government to stem the advance. The presidential adviser who discussed the situation with a reporter conceded that the U.S. will "lose face" if the southern Korean government is taken over by the Communists. But, strategically, from the standpoint of the overall picture, the U.S. cannot afford to "be sucked into" a war with Russia over Korea.

Lie discussed the Korean problem in a transcripted press conference Monday night. He said the Korean crisis did not detract in any way from his 10-point peace program which he recently laid before all members of the U.N.

Australia To Send Bombers To Malaya

CANBERRA (BUP)—Australia is sending a squadron of heavy bombers to Malaya to combat Communism, Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced today. "The Korean invasion is Communist inspired and directed," Menzies said.

"The Korean incident cannot be looked at in isolation nor can we in Australia regard it as remote from our own interests and safety."

"There are other points of possible attack on or off the coast of China. There also is a Communist-led campaign in Indo-China."

"Much nearer home are the operations of the Communist guerrillas in Malaya, and their activities will be stimulated by the events in Korea."

EDINBURGH (Reuter)—Novelist Eric Linklater has asked that his signature be erased from the covenant seeking a separate Scottish parliament because he says that to beg U.S. money for a Scottish cause seems undignified. A covenant delegation now is touring Canada and the United States.

Big Sum Asked For Atom Work

OTTAWA (BUP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe went before the Commons today to ask the House to vote almost $40,000,000 for atomic energy development, national research and munitions control.

This came the day after the House had approved a $425,000,000 defence budget for the armed services generally, the largest peacetime commitment of its kind ever passed by Parliament. At the same time, the House had a warning from Defence Minister Claxton that if war should break out, the government would ask for a blank cheque to spend unlimited funds to put the nation on a wartime footing.

Howe is the minister working closely with Claxton on the overall defence picture, but especially charged with responsibility for research, development and defence purchasing.

He wants the Commons to provide $7,991,530 for the atomic energy control board's work during the current year, an increase of $1,333,540 over the amount voted last year.

He asks for authority to spend an additional $14,208,000 in future years for expanding and improving housing facilities for the staff at Chalk River, Ont., scene of the nation's atomic energy establishment.

Mediators Try To Avert Rail Strike Of 250,000

CHICAGO (UP)—Mediators began talks today to head off a threatened walkout of 250,000 railroad trainmen and conductors while a three-day-old strike of 4,000 switchmen against five western roads slowed iron ore shipments on the Great Lakes.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors, which threatened to strike against the nation's railroads July 15 for a shorter work week, sent representatives to meet with chairman Francis O'Neill of the National Railway Mediation Board.

But W. P. Kennedy, president of the B.R.T., said there was "little reason for optimism at this late hour for a peaceful settlement." The trainmen and conductors, who now work from 48 to 56 hours a week, demanded a 40-hour week without reduction in pay. They refused the demand.

O'Neill held separate talks with the A.F.L. Switchmen's Union and representatives of the struck Rock Island, Western Pacific, Great Northern, Chicago Great Western and Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroads.

The switchmen walked out Sunday to enforce demands for a 40-hour week without reduction in pay. All of the roads except the Great Northern shut down immediately, and Monday night that railroad slapped an embargo on livestock and perishable freight. The road said the embargo did not apply to other types of freight.

Board Named To Overhaul Combines Act

Garson Announces Members Chosen

OTTAWA (CP)—A four-man commission has been set up to overhaul Canada's combines legislation, Justice Minister Garson announced in the Commons today.

The commission is headed by Mr. Justice J. H. MacQuarrie of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, and includes Dr. W. A. Mackintosh of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont.; Prof. Maurice Lamontagne of Laval University, Quebec; and Dean George Curtis of the University of British Columbia law school.

The justice minister said the commission's terms of reference would include making recommendations for amendments to the Combines Investigation Act to make it "a more effective instrument for encouraging and safeguarding our free society."

Lake Michigan Dragged For Plane Wreck

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UP)—Coast Guard crews dragged Lake Michigan today for the main bulk of the DC-4 Northwest Airlines plane which crashed with 58 persons aboard.

The cutters Woodbine and Hollyhock dragged by searchlight throughout the night in hopes that two divers waiting aboard the destroyer escort Daniel A. Joy could descend 200 feet to the lake bottom.

Joseph E. Kimm, assistant chief pilot for N.W.A., said the dragging operations were intended to pinpoint the exact location of the bulk if it existed. He said the water was too deep for random diving because it would take divers one hour to descend and two hours to come up again.

Some officials were of the opinion, however, that the plane and its crewmen and passengers were blasted to bits in an explosion caused by a thunderstorm. They believed there was no bulk left.

Their opinion seemed borne out by debris of thin pieces of debris and flesh found floating over a wide area.

During a long cruise on the Hollyhock Monday, this reporter saw many fragments but none larger than a foot square. Coast guardsmen in whale boats dipped into the water with their hands to pick up the pieces.

One sailor found a wallet bearing papers of Frank G. Schwartz of New York City. They indicated he was en route to St. Paul, Minn., for the wedding of his daughter.

New Cabinet Named In Iran

TEHRAN (AP)—Iran got a new cabinet today, headed by an anti-Communist strongman and made up mostly of newcomers to top government rank.

Only two of the ministers chosen by Premier-Designate Lt. Gen. Ali Ra'f, chief of the general staff, have held high ministerial rank before.

Western diplomats in Cairo said the Communist invasion of South Korea apparently had speeded the cabinet change in Iran. The three-month-old government of Premier Ali Mansour had been accused of inaction and indecision.

Moscow Rules U.S. Stand On Korea Illegal

MOSCOW (UP)—The official Soviet news agency Tass said today that the Security Council's condemnation of North Korea and "cease-fire" order were illegal because Russia and China's "legitimate representative" did not attend.

The Tass dispatch from New York contended that a Security Council decision on a substantive matter requires the approval of all permanent members in accordance with the United Nations charter.

Neither Russia nor the Peiping government representative was present and therefore the council could not make "any valid decisions," Tass said. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government represented China at the meeting.

Russian is taking the war in Korea calmly. The Soviet press and radio refrain from expressing sympathy for either North or South Korea, although Russia supports the northern government.

Soviet newspapers publish dispatches from both western and Communist correspondents.

7 MINISTERS QUIT CABINET

TOKYO (AP)—Seven cabinet ministers resigned today in a move that has no connection with the outbreak of war in Korea. Premier Shigeru Yoshida, who will resign, will attempt to form a new cabinet.

Winnipeg Citizens Face $2,900,000 Flood Bill

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Taxpayers here were faced today with paying the city's $2,900,000 flood bill.

Ald. J. Blumberg issued the warning at a meeting of the city council last Monday night. He said the taxpayers might have to face a 25 per cent increase in taxes next year unless the federal and provincial governments paid the bill.

Blumberg said the city had received no assurance from the province to indicate it would contribute anything to the costs. The provincial government, he

American Equipment Turning Tide Of Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today ordered United States planes and warships to the aid of South Korean forces. He laid down a policy of standing firm against Communist aggression in the far Pacific.

As a part of the broader policy, Truman directed that the U.S. Seventh Fleet be prepared to intervene to prevent any Communist attack on Formosa, the island refuge of the Chinese Nationalist government.

From ASSOCIATED PRESS AND UNITED PRESS

TOKYO (AP)—North Korean Communist invaders were reported tonight pushed back 20 miles north of Seoul, the southern capital.

A telephone connection to two Korean newspaper men in Seoul brought the statement that the capital had been quiet and the main battle line was more than 20 miles to the north.

The two—Bill Shinn, Associated Press Korean reporter, and Sol Kook Wan, managing editor of the Korean Pacific Press, said the entire South Korean cabinet—presumably including President Syngman Rhee—had evacuated the city despite continued contrary government claims.

Reuters news agency earlier had reported that President Rhee told his minister in Tokyo in a radio-telephone conversation that the South Korean government still was in Seoul and his troops had pushed the invaders back 12 miles from the city.

Meanwhile Allied headquarters announced tonight that American fighters shot down four North Korean planes over the Seoul area.

SEE SIX DOGFIGHTS

The announcement of aerial fighting over Korea by U.S. fighters followed a report by refugees from South Korea that they saw at least six North Korean Yak and other Soviet-type fighters crash during all-day clashes with the Americans.

A communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said the dogfights over the Kimpo airport outside Seoul took place while American fighters were giving protective air coverage for the evacuation of U.S. citizens.

Korean newspaper man talking to Tokyo from the Chosen Hotel in the centre of Seoul said the battle line this afternoon stretched from Munsan, about 25 miles northwest of Seoul, to Tong Du Chan, about 25 miles due north, to Pochon on the east.

If this line is correct it would confirm previous South Korean claims that Uijongbu, important valley town 12 miles north of Seoul, had been recaptured.

South Korean forces under a new general began their second counter-attack this morning against Uijongbu, a key point along the route followed by the tanked North Korean forces driving on Seoul.

SEOUL CLEARED

There was no sign of Communist North Korean ground troops about Seoul, reporters said.

Radio Seoul said anti-tank guns and American Mustang fighters rushed to South Korea from Japan by Gen. MacArthur turned the tide and led to the

Korean Radio Reports U.S. Troops Coming

TOKYO (AP)—A Seoul radio broadcast monitored in Tokyo claimed late today that a United States field headquarters and American troops will be sent to South Korea.

The broadcaster was identified as Clarence Rye, official spokesman for the South Korean government.

As heard here, he said specifically that U.S. soldiers would join the fight against the Communist North Koreans.

There has been no indication that Gen. MacArthur's headquarters here contemplates sending American soldiers to Korea or taking direct control of military activities.

recapture of Uijongbu, astride the traditional invasion corridor from the north.

The broadcast did not disclose whether the bulk of the Communist troops which surged into the outskirts of Seoul Monday had been driven back through Uijongbu or had been trapped between the two cities.

The South Korean P-51 Mustang fighters were patrolling the skies over Seoul, the broadcast said. It said two air raid alarms had been sounded in the city since noon, but indicated no Communist planes appeared.

1,950 EVACUATING

Other developments in the Korean situation included: 1. MacArthur announced that 1,950 U.S. government civilian and military personnel and their dependents and other American and foreign nationals are being evacuated by United States ships and planes from South Korea.

2. The first American evacuees to arrive in Japan reported that several members of a geological survey team and four or five American missionary families were believed behind Communist lines in the war zone.

3. John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser to the U.S. State Department, left Tokyo for the United States to report to Secretary of State Dean Acheson on the worsening Far Eastern situation.

4. The North Korean government announced that it has turned over all military and political power to a seven-man military junta for an all-out campaign to bring all Southern Korea under the Communist banner.

5. The Japanese cabinet handed in its resignation to Premier Shigeru Yoshida to clear the way for a strengthened pre-American coalition of Yoshida's Liberal Party and the Democratic Party.

LONDON (Reuter)—The National Union of Journalists announced Monday its members had decided to remain affiliated to the Trades Union Congress.

About half of the union's 10,000 members voted, 3,037 in favor of affiliation and 2,034 against.

President Acts To Stop Red Invasion

Truman Orders Warships, Planes
To Aid S. Korea, Defend Formosa

TOKYO (Wednesday) (AP)—A South Korean broadcast early today said U.S. bombers and fighter planes already were attacking tanks of the invading North Korean Reds.

The broadcast was made in the name of President Syngman Rhee of the South Korean Republic.

No details were given.

By ERNEST HOBERECHT

TOKYO (UP)—American Far East Air Force planes prepared to take off at dawn today (Wednesday) with live bombs and ammunition to carry out President Truman's order to support the South Koreans in its fight against aggression.

U.S. crews were alerted, planes were warmed up, and pilots were briefed in ready rooms throughout Japan, where the air force has every type of war plane up to B-29s.

The precise number of planes readied for action in Korea was a military secret. But a vast number of the latest American jets were seen in the air here recently, insuring a tremendous striking power.

The U.S. Seventh Fleet, which will protect Formosa against Communist aggression, last was reported south of Okinawa. It sailed from Hongkong last weekend after air demonstrations in that area by navy Panthers from the navy's first carrier jets aboard the Valley Forge.

TO HIT BEACHHEADS.

The planes were expected to hit the beachheads the North Korean forces now hold in South Korea. The navy was believed to see some action in that connection, too.

Mr. Truman's orders, as they apparently were understood here, give a wide latitude to Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the naval and air force under him.

A responsible source said revision of Far Eastern policy was influenced greatly by what Defence Secretary Louis Johnson and Gen. Omar N. Bradley told Mr. Truman after their visit to Japan.

Even before the civil war broke out in Korea, the source said, Johnson favored a strong American stand against communism in Asia.

Late word from Korea indicated American help came in the nick of time.

The Communist vanguard which had been hurled back a dozen miles from Seoul was reported to have returned to the immediate environs of the city.

REDS COME BACK

B. Y. Kim, assistant manager of the Chosen Hotel, the biggest in Seoul, said early today in a telephone talk to Tokyo that the North Korean forces repulsed by a South Korean counter-attack had returned Tuesday evening.

Small arms fire was exchanged in the edge of the city in the early part of the night, he said, but only occasional shots were heard early this morning.

President Syngman Rhee broadcast to the South Korean people the word of the American aid, and called on them to crush to invaders as an appropriate response to the help.

Kim said hostilities were expected to be renewed at dawn. He was unable to say just how strong a Communist force was back at Seoul.

Planes were overhead continuously during the night, he said, and flashes on the horizon indicated either bombings or anti-aircraft fire.

Meanwhile Allied headquarters announced tonight that American fighters shot down four North Korean planes over the Seoul area.

The announcement of aerial fighting over Korea by U.S. fighters followed a report by refugees from South Korea that they saw at least six North Korean Yak and other Soviet-type fighters crash during all-day clashes with the Americans.

113 Taken Off Cruise Ship After New York Crash

Ss. Excalibur Beached By Fleet Of Tugs;
Fire In Dutch Freighter Colombia Put Out

NEW YORK (UP)—The American Export Lines luxury cruise ship Excalibur, outward bound on a 43-day Mediterranean cruise, collided with a freighter in the harbor here today and began to sink, but all her 113 passengers were removed safely.

Within minutes after the collision at 12.35 p.m., E.D.T., dozens of Coast Guard vessels, tugs and other harbor craft converged on the stricken 9,644-ton liner and began removing passengers. By 1.20 p.m. the rescue operation had been completed. The Coast Guard said no injuries had been reported among passengers or the crews of the two ships.

Fire boats poured towers of water into the Danish freighter Colombia, which broke into flames when the vessels collided head-on almost in the shadow of Lower Manhattan's skyscrapers. In half an hour the fire was reported under control.

In addition to her 113 passengers, the Excalibur carried a crew of about 130. The Coast Guard estimated there was a crew of 35 aboard the 5,146-ton Colombia, which was inbound from Tampa, Fla.

As the rescue operation proceeded in the calm, sunlit waters of the harbor, tugs slowly nosed the listing Excalibur toward the sand flats of Brooklyn. By 1.35 p.m., the luxury liner, one of the "four aces" of the American Export Lines fleet, was hard aground.

Decision by the court as to whether permission will be granted for the appeal to be heard will be known within the next few days.

FIGHTING AFFECTS ALL MARKETS

Stocks Still Slump On Korea News But Commodities Go Up

By CANADIAN PRESS

World commodity markets climbed today in the face of military developments in Korea, but stock exchanges continued the drastic slump started Monday.

The New York Stock Exchange, which enjoyed an early rally, plunged as soon as President Truman had announced at Washington that U.S. aid would be given South Korea, which has been invaded from the north. Commodities in New York reacted conversely. After dropping below Monday's highs in the opening hours, prices for most products began a rapid climb. Grains at Chicago also surged upward.

The London Stock Exchange closed before Truman's announcement, but traders had already taken a gloomy view of developments. British government securities and Japanese bonds slumped again, closing at the lowest levels.

U.S., Soviet Delegates To U.N. Meet In Secret Lunch

Britain Backs U.N. Action On Korea War

Asks Members Give
All Necessary Aid

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons tonight that the British representative would support a resolution calling for aid to Southern Korea, to be introduced in the U.N. Security Council by the United States.

Attlee said he understood the United States resolution would recommend that members of the United Nations furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel armed attack.

His announcement was cheered.

Winston Churchill thanked Attlee for "making the House acquainted with this grave situation." He said that unity "dominated the whole House when questions of this gravity seem to touch on the principle of freedom and law for which we stand."

Liberal Leader Clement Davies said he echoed Churchill's words. Attlee read President Truman's statement ordering help for South Korea.

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters)—Eighty persons were killed and hundreds injured when a depot containing inflammable and explosive materials caught fire today at an Iraq Petroleum Co. establishment here.

Too Close

Map shows why President Truman today sent U.S. warplanes and ships to help hold South Korea against Red forces and to defend Formosa. Korea would constitute a jumping-off place for any attack on U.S.-held Japan while Communist China lies like a sword over the head of Formosa, the base for any invasion of Okinawa.

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. John H. Chipman, M.B.E., national president of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, announced today she had received word from London, Eng., that the I.O.D.E. offer to buy the Queen Mary carpet had been accepted.

Mrs. Chipman said the notification had been received from the Queen Mary Carpet Committee. The I.O.D.E. now will sponsor a campaign for $100,000 to pay for the carpet.

In Ottawa, the United Kingdom Information office confirmed the I.O.D.E. announcement.

Queuille Unable To Form New French Cabinet

PARIS (UP)—Former Premier Henri Queuille failed today to break the four-day deadlock between France's political parties. He gave up his attempt to form a new cabinet.

Queuille reported his failure to President Vincent Auriol, who faced the necessity of finding someone else to undertake the mission.

Queuille said afterward that Auriol urged him to try again. He said he told the President he saw no possibility of getting the squabbling parties together on a workable government program.

"I have seen many government crises," he said, "but have never seen one like this."

He has been a member of 27 French governments.

May Ask Stalin To Meet Truman On World Crisis

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UP)—The United States formally called upon the United Nations Security Council today to order military sanctions against North Korea in support of President Truman's emergency order for air and naval action.

The American resolution, circulated shortly before the council met at 3 p.m., called upon the Russian-boycotted Council to recommend:

"That the members of the U.N. furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel the armed attack (by North Korea) and to restore international peace and security in the area."

At the time the resolution was released, Russian and American delegates to the Council met at a luncheon given by Constantin Zinchenko, Russian Assistant Secretary-General in charge of Security Council affairs for most of the Security Council delegations.

It was reported that Sir Benegal Rau, Indian President of the Security Council, was considering an appeal to President Truman and Russian Premier Josef Stalin to meet and discuss the world crisis face-to-face.

Key to the U.S. policy decision, it was understood, is to be found in the concluding paragraph of the U.N. resolution adopted Sunday which called on all member countries to refrain from assisting the North Korean forces and give every assistance to the U.N. in line with the resolution.

Under the U.N. charter, the council may order any kind of punitive action from economic or political boycotts to military intervention by all U.N. members or any group of members.

The council's cease-fire was ordered Sunday afternoon in an emergency meeting called a few hours after Communist-controlled Northern Korea invaded Southern Korea.

Since then the seven-country U.N. Korean commission has reported.

Sioux, Cayuga To Have New Commanders

OTTAWA (CP)—The Navy Monday announced appointment of new commanding officers for the Pacific-based Canadian destroyers Cayuga and Sioux.

Cmdr. Paul D. Taylor, 38, of Victoria, will take command of Sioux July 5 and Capt. Jeffrey V. Brock, 36, of Vancouver and Winnipeg, becomes commander of Cayuga July 6.

The announcement coincided with a disclosure in the Commons by Defence Minister Claxton that a proposed European cruise, in which the two destroyers were to take part with three others and the carrier Magnificent, might have to be postponed if the Korean war continues.

Capt. Brock, formerly of naval plans and operations at headquarters, will succeed Capt. M. A. Medland, 37, of Toronto. Capt. Medland leaves command of Cayuga to begin an advanced staff course Sept. 1.

Cmdr. Taylor, who recently completed a staff course, will take over command of Sioux from Cmdr. D. W. Groos, 32, of Victoria.

Mariners have been advised by the Department of Transport that buoys will be laid to mark the course for the races in the P.Y.A. regatta to be held at Vancouver Friday to Monday.

The buoys will be placed between Spanish Banks and the mooring buoys off Kitsilano Beach from 9 to 5 each day. The westerly buoys will have orange flags with black letters and the easterly buoys, blue flags with white letters.

Closure Urged Of Tye Camp

Tye Emergency Shelter Camp was branded as "a detriment" to nearby property owners and its closure urged with residents moved to "responsible quarters" at Gordon Head Camp by Reginald Clarke Sr., in a letter to City Council Monday.

A welfare committee proposal to employ a caretaker at the camp was not favored by home owners in the area, Mr. Clarke said, adding that "trouble has been in existence at Tye Camp for some considerable time among the occupants."

Formation Completed Of Disaster Committee

Several months of preparation preceded a Victoria Red Cross meeting in Red Cross House Monday night, which rallied more than 30 key citizens for organization of a standing disaster committee.

Formation of the committee is part of a national scheme being set up in all major centres in order to have facilities and organization ready at all times in the event of a local disaster.

Blueprints for various possible disasters, in order to avoid confusion in case of a real emergency, will be worked out. Business and civic leaders have been named to sub-committees for which their regular positions qualify them.

Officials said information on emergency sources of essential supplies and services would be kept up to date, ready for quick references.

Charles S. Henley is chairman with Maj.-Gen. C. R. Stein, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Jean Pearce, general secretary.

As the Senate's chief administration foreign policy spokesman, Connally counseled Congress to "just be patient" and to await decisions of President Truman and the U.N. Security Council.

But he told reporters the Communist invasion of South Korea was "a clear cut, outright attack on the jurisdiction of the United Nations."

Asked if he thought U.N.'s fate could be determined by steps taken in the Korean dispute, he replied the course followed could determine whether the U.N. will be effective.

"If it fails and does nothing," he said, "it won't help it any—it won't help its prestige."

Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) told reporters the U.N. Security Council must follow through on its demand that the North Koreans fall back of their frontier, even if military sanctions must be applied.

Eugene D. Millikin (R., Colo.) reported that it was the "unanimous" opinion among Republican senators that the Korean incident should not become a provocation for war.

But in Senate debate later Connally at least interpreted speeches by Senators Styles Bridges (R., N.H.) and William F. Knowland (R., Calif.) as evidence that some senators were ready to declare war.

Held Responsible In Cafe Stabbing

MONTREAL (CP)—A coroner's jury Monday held 23-year-old Maxime Legace criminally responsible for the death of Denis Duguay, 26, stabbed Saturday in a cafeteria brawl over the amount of meat in a stew.

Police said Duguay and his brother entered a St. Lawrence Boulevard cafeteria and began arguing about the amount of meat in the stew and one of them told Legace, counterman, that he was "going to get his own meal."

A scuffle followed and Duguay received a bread knife through the heart.

Carpenters May Reject Award By Conciliators

A three-man conciliation board in session last week to consider matters in dispute between Local 1598, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners and the Victoria Building Industries Exchange has recommended:

1. An eight-cent-an-hour wage increase;
2. The 1950 agreement contain a union shop clause, requested by the union;
3. Inclusion of a no-work-stoppage clause, requested by the exchange.

The conciliators' report was unanimous. It was signed by Philip Fleming, board chairman; V. L. Leigh, city contractor, who was the exchange nominee, and William Page, international carpenters representative from Vancouver.

At a meeting late Monday, the carpenters' negotiating committee sat to consider the report and decided to recommend to the union membership that the report be rejected. The committee, it was learned, had taken exception to the no-work-stoppage clause.

OBJECTIONABLE
The committee termed the clause objectionable and maintained the conciliation board had no business recommending it as neither side had discussed this point while the board was sitting. The committee announced it would go before a meeting of the general membership tonight and recommend to members they ask the Labor Relations Board to convene the conciliation board.

Word of the union committee's intentions came as a surprise to officials of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange as, at the start of conciliation, bargaining committees on both sides agreed to recommend acceptance of the board's report if it was unanimous.

AMAZED
"I was frankly amazed to hear the union committee was recommending rejection of the report," J. A. Pollard, builders' exchange president, said today.

He said the exchange's bargaining committee would "stick to the agreement" and recommend acceptance of the report. He said there was no doubt the general membership would follow the recommendation.

The recommended wage increase would bring pay for the 500 carpenters employed by exchange contractors to $1.63 an hour. The men now receive $1.55 an hour. Early in the year, at the start of negotiations, they asked for a 20 cents increase to boost their hourly pay to $1.75. Later, they cut their demands to $1.68.

Chairman for the ceremony was H. A. Jones, director of technical and vocational education.

TWO LOCAL MEETS REMAIN

Model Plane Enthusiasts Go To Ladysmith Saturday

Control-line enthusiasts of the Victoria Model Airplane League will journey to Ladysmith Saturday to compete in the annual Dominion Day ceremonies at the up-land centre.

The next local point meet will be held July 9 at the Oak Bay High School grounds. Only two point meets remain on the league's schedule. Don Harvey is leading the open class with 41 points, while Roderick McLeod is running a close second with 38. Ian Douglas is top "pilot" in the senior division with 56 points. In Sunday's competition, McLeod's planes made two of the longest flight records of the year. In the open class, his towline glider was clocked at 11 minutes 34 seconds, while his cabin plane model soared for 12 minutes.

Junior flyers again proved the high-point winners. Bill Gelling gained 42 points Sunday and Andy Rittich 40. Rittich retained his lead with a season's total of 133 points. Gelling has 119.

The latter also maintained his record of losing a plane a meet. His towline glider disappeared after seven minutes. Anyone finding the large red and yellow model is asked to call E 5903.

Sunday School Holds Picnic

LANGFORD—Members of St. Matthew's Sunday School with a number of parents held a picnic at Weir's Beach Saturday to mark the close of Sunday School classes until September.

Lake Michigan Dragged For Plane Wreck

By DON BAIL
BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UP)—Coast Guard crews dragged Lake Michigan today for the main bulk of the DC-4 Northwest Airlines plane which crashed with 58 persons aboard. The cutters Woodbine and Hollyhook dragged by searchlight throughout the night in hopes that two divers waiting aboard the destroyer escort Daniel A. Joy could descend 200 feet to the lake bottom.

Joseph E. Kimm, assistant chief pilot for N.W.A., said the dragging operations were intended to pinpoint the exact location of the bulk if it existed. He said the water was too deep for random diving because it would take divers one hour to descend and two hours to come up again. Some officials were of the opinion, however, that the plane and its crewmen and passengers were blasted to bits in an explosion caused by a thunderstorm. They believed there was no bulk left.

Their opinion seemed borne out by hundreds of tiny pieces of debris and flesh found floating over a wide area. During a long cruise on the Hollyhook Monday, this reporter saw many fragments but none larger than a foot square. Coast guardsmen in whale boats dipped into the water with their hands to pick up the pieces. One sailor found a wallet bearing papers of Frank G. Schwartz of New York City. They indicated he was en route to St. Paul, Minn., for the wedding of his daughter.

New Cabinet

TEHRAN (AP)—Iran got a new cabinet today, headed by an anti-Communist strong-man and made up mostly of newcomers to top government rank. Only two of the ministers chosen by Premier-Designate Lt. Gen. Ali Ra Mara, chief of the general staff, have held high ministerial rank before. Western diplomats in Cairo said the Communist invasion of South Korea apparently had speeded the cabinet change in Iran. The three-month-old government of Premier Ali Mansoor had been accused of inaction and indecision.

Big Money Vote Asked For Atom Development

Howe Requests Commons To Provide $40,000,000 For That Work And Research

OTTAWA (BUP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe went before the Commons today to ask the House to vote almost $40,000,000 for atomic energy development, national research and munitions control.

This came the day after the House had approved a $425,000,000 defence budget for the armed services generally, the largest peacetime commitment of its kind ever passed by Parliament. At the same time, the House had a warning from Defence Minister Claxton that if war should break out, the government would ask for a blank cheque to spend unlimited funds to put the nation on a wartime footing. Howe is the minister working closely with Claxton on the overall defence picture, but especially charged with responsibility for research, development and defence purchasing.

He wants the Commons to provide $7,991,530 for the atomic energy control board's work during the current year, an increase of $1,333,840 over the amount voted last year.

He asks for authority to spend an additional $14,208,000 in future years for expanding and improving housing facilities for the staff at Chalk River, Ont., scene of the nation's atomic energy establishment. Howe wants a further $100,000 to add to the buildings at the atomic energy plant itself.

QUICK EXPANSION

Though not now engaged in atomic energy work for any warlike or defence purpose, the Chalk River establishment would overnight become a hive of defence energy if the present international situation should break down completely into war, government sources said.

Keyed in with the atomic energy program is a $12,093,703 appropriation for the National Research Council.

TAX RATE MAY RISE

Winnipeg Citizens Face $2,900,000 Flood Bill

WINNIPEG (BUP)—Taxpayers here were faced today with paying the city's $2,900,000 flood bill.

Ald. J. Blumberg issued the warning at a meeting of the city council last Monday night. He said the taxpayers might have to face a 25 per cent increase in taxes next year unless the federal and provincial governments paid the bill.

Blumberg said the city had received no assurance from the province to indicate it would contribute anything to the costs. The provincial government, he added, had stated it had a $6,000,000 flood bill itself to foot.

"It will be grim if citizens have to carry this additional load. Unless the provincial government pays the city's flood bill, taxpayers will be faced with an 8 to 10 mill increase next year," he said.

Breaking From Democracy

THE COURSE OF THE MALAN regime in the Union of South Africa appears more and more to indicate that a most undemocratic growth has appeared within the framework of the British Commonwealth. It could conceivably reach a point where, instead of South Africa agitating for independence from the British family of nations, it might be asked to leave and spare the other democratic lands the embarrassment of maintaining totalitarianism within the household. Consider the following quotation:

"Is it not time for us to base our national life upon another foundation by breaking away from democracy? No one who thinks over conditions will want to take democracy, as we know it, under his protection."

One might well ascribe it to Adolf Hitler in 1932, to Marshal Tito in 1945, or to various other extreme rightist or leftist leaders busy in the preparation of revolution. Actually, as recalled in a recent issue of London Public Opinion, the words are those of Dr. Daniel F. Malan, uttered in the course of a speech in 1941. Today Dr. Malan is Prime Minister of South Africa and his party forms the Government. Although he has not yet taken the ultimate step which he suggested as desirable 10 years ago, he appears to have been working gradually toward such a development. Some of the measures which his administration has enacted or prepared since taking office just two years ago illustrate the trend. The Citizenship Act gives the Minister absolute discretion in the granting or refusing of certificates of citizenship. Since citizenship carries the right to vote, control of the electorate by the Government is obviously in order. The Immorality Act declares all sexual relations between European and non-European illegal and bans mixed marriages. The Population Registration Act makes it necessary for every person over 16 to be classified according to race and to carry a card certifying the fact. The information is made public to assist in exposing attempted evasion. The Group Areas Bill divides every city, town, hamlet and farming section into rigid zones for White, Black and Colored residents.

The Unlawful Organizations Bill is ostensibly aimed at Communists, but will give the Minister power to suppress any group which "aims to bring about any political, economic, social and industrial change in the Union by promoting disturbances"—a provision sufficiently wide to give the Government full power in controlling such opposition as it deems dangerous. The Minister of the Interior in the Malan Cabinet will be given personal power to control all passports in legislation now being prepared. In addition, three additional measures will remove the right of some 8,000,000 Africans to be represented by three Europeans in the Union Parliament, remove colored persons' names from the Common Voters' Roll, and establish the Union as an independent Republic within the Commonwealth.

One wonders by what right Dr. Malan and his colleagues continue to assume that they will still be welcome to that distinction, either as an independent state or a full-fledged member. One Fascist block can weaken the whole democratic structure. The people of South Africa should be given some effective indication of what the rest of the free nations think of such totalitarian political tactics on the part of their government.

'A Nation's Wealth'

WHETHER THE QUESTION OF health is studied in its deeply significant national aspects, or whether the subject is reduced to the colloquial slogan "Life is swell when you feel well," the report of Health Minister Paul Martin to the Canadian Medical Association convention in Halifax makes important reading to people of this Dominion. Mr. Martin has noted several of the advances made in recent years in the field of physical well-being. He has announced, moreover, provision of $200,000,000 by Canadian governments for public health and hospital care this year. That represents a substantial investment for the protection of any country's most vital asset.

In British Columbia it is gratifying to learn from our officials that consistent work by the provincial and municipal departments is showing results not only in improved standards, but in public appreciation of health services. This province enjoys a high standing in such matters in relation to other parts of the Dominion. Public health has been making steady progress—progress the more certain because it has avoided the spectacular and kept to fundamentals.

The official agencies, however, can do only so much. They may provide the facilities and furnish the leadership. After that, it is up to the people themselves. A growing awareness of the part they have to play has become increasingly evident here and elsewhere in the province in recent years. As that understanding grows and as more realize that "a nation's health is a nation's wealth" the work undertaken by Mr. Martin and agencies throughout the Dominion will yield greater returns.

A Job Smartly Done

MEMBERS OF THE B.C. PROVINCIAL Police who took part in the speedy and efficient capture of three suspected bandits last week-end are to be complimented on their success. The rapid mustering of their strength, the quick organization of the search, the co-operation of the various mobile units and the intelligent sleuthing that led to discovery of the fugitives in a secluded house, all resulted in a demonstration of smart police work. It is by such deeds that the excellent reputation of the Provincial force has been gained and maintained. It is a reputation that will go with officers and men as they are amalgamated with the R.C.M.P.

One of the outstanding features of the bandits' capture was the able use made of modern equipment. As cars converged on the search area, two-way radio communication enabled all to keep in constant touch and deploy their forces to best advantage. There was no waiting for messages, no aimless running over roads already patrolled, no faltering due to lack of knowledge of the others' movements. It was a creditable performance all round, and deserving of public appreciation.

It Could Hurt 'Bubber' Tongay, Too

IN THE EARLY PART OF LAST summer's silly season, we heard reports of preparations by Shirley May France, a teen-age Somerset, Mass., girl, to swim the English Channel. Her 1949 attempt ended last September when she was taken weeping from the water, six miles from her objective. At that time, while expressing sympathy with the young woman, we noted that "the unfortunate element in her effort lies in the fact that she had been given such a build-up that anything but success seems inglorious."

Now we read of a four-year-old Miami boy, Russell (Bubber) Tongay, Jr., who reportedly swam a downstream stretch of 22 miles in the Mississippi last week as a warm-up for a later Channel attempt. That feat is phenomenal in itself. Crossing the Channel would be even more sensational. There are too many infant prodigies in the world today to discount infant prodigies. At the same time, we think that Poppa Tongay might take Baby Tongay aside and tell him how embarrassing it was to Shirley May last year, and then suggest to Baby Tongay that he hold his press agents in line. The music is so much sweeter when the band plays after the event rather than before it.

Historic Russian Peasant Methods Still Used Despite Communist Effort To Raise Production

EDWARD CRANKSHAW, from London

THE SOVIET Government is meeting resistance from the peasants to its drive to raise the standard of living by increasing milk and meat supplies. Some idea of what the government is up against is given by the intensity of its current propaganda campaign.

QUIET SABOTAGE

It is clear that in many areas the peasants are quietly sabotaging the government's three-year plan for livestock breeding. The government plan is designed to raise the morale of factory workers by providing them with meat and milk. The peasants are not interested in meat and milk, but only in bread.

They deeply resent the compulsion to sow down their valuable cornland to grass. Their interest in livestock is strictly confined to the personal possession of a cow, a pig, a goat, a few chickens. The cow is the type of animal which is led out on a rope by an old woman to graze on the roadside verge. In winter it is fed on scraps and emerges in the spring looking like a bag of bones, if it emerges at all.

"All attempts on the part of the government and party to make the peasants take an interest in the collective herds are met with sulky resistance."

The latest propaganda move is the publication of a combined government and party directive urging "the special importance of fodder for socialized animal husbandry and the need to do away with the lag of stored fodder behind the increase in head of cattle, which is marked in a number of regions, territories, and republics."

Earlier this month the Soviet press contained exhortations to the Ministry of Agriculture and local party committees to instruct the peasants in the proper way of making silage and the desirability of cutting hay before the grasses have seeded and lost their virtue—a traditional custom all over Russia.

In particular, the local press of the Crimea and Kazakhstan has been citing widespread examples of anti-social behaviour in those regions, the sort of behaviour which, in fact, is widespread throughout Russia. Serious losses of stock are reported because of "inadequate housing and feeding," while in other areas there has been a wholesale slaughtering of breeding stock for internal consumption on the farms, with the result that there is no hope at all of these regions completing their breeding programs.

Arms Controversy

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
(From Washington)

THE "new weapons" propaganda is reaching sinister proportions. Some one had better set down the honest facts before everyone becomes dreadingly deluded that the western world can be cheaply defended with a few Buck Rogers model atomic disintegrators. The current propaganda started, in the first place, because of the American ground forces' jealousy of the publicity accorded weapons of the future of the rival Navy and Air Force. The jealousy led, by the squalid, familiar route, to the usual calculated leak about ground force achievements in the new-weapons field. Perhaps the best comment is the reported remark of the President, when he forbade official publication of the ground force claims.

"Why the hell," said Truman, "don't these guys pipe down?"

IN the second place, the claims now being made are grossly misleading. One group of the alleged "new weapons" is actually composed of old weapons, like the recoilless gun, the shaped charge, the proximity fuse and the non-magnetic land mine, which every informed student of defence problems has known about for years. Another group of these "new weapons" comprises weapons like the nuclear weapons for infantry and all the different varieties of guided missile, which will not be ready for use in combat for a long time to come.

Thus the "new weapons" propaganda is creating the illusion of a revolution in tactics and strategy, when no such revolution has occurred. This is bad enough. It is still worse, however, that this propaganda also masks one of the major scandals of the American defence effort, which is the slowness of new-weapons research and development by all three services.

IN his admirable book, Dr. Vannevar Bush bitterly hints at this scandal. The Army Ordnance, for example, long neglected the adaptation to anti-tank uses of the recoilless gun and shaped charge, both of which existed at the end of the second war. If this adaptation has now at last been made, as claimed, it has been made late. Because of the delay, the new anti-tank weapons are not yet sufficiently perfected. Hence large-scale orders cannot be placed within a reasonable time, unless research and development are greatly stepped up.

IN the case of the real novelties, like guided missiles, the picture is immeasurably worse. Only about $100,000,000 a year is currently being invested in all the different guided missile projects of the three services. No field of research and development is more vast, more complex, or more expensive. Hence progress has been so slow that the first experimental mass firing of the first true, supersonic guided missile will not occur for at least five years.

IN short, the facts about the new weapons are far from justifying us in putting off the great intensification of defence effort demanded by the world situation. On the contrary, only a great intensification of the defence effort will provide us with these new weapons at the time when we are going to need them, which the Atlantic foreign ministers at London defined as 1953-54.

In the third place, even if the new weapons are available before the time of danger, it is childish nonsense to suppose that the need for armies, navies and air forces will magically vanish. It is supposed to be a "misunderstanding" to suggest, for example, that Western Europe cannot be defended against the Red Army with less than thirty to forty powerful modern divisions.

BUT in fact, the American, British and French planners have only been able to make this low estimate of the European ground force requirement precisely because they assumed the new European army would be equipped with the new ground force weapons now in prospect. And if recruiting, organizing and training the new European army is delayed until after the new weapons are ready in quantity, Europe will still lack a ground defence when the time of danger begins.

many centuries than the revolution, which is largely responsible for the continued lowness of the Soviet standard of living. And the harshness of the measures used to combat it very often succeed only in driving the peasants into still more stubborn passive resistance. Every day animals from the collective herds are illegally transferred to private ownership.

The grain situation is another story. The Russian peasant understands the necessity for grain and to all appearances the position here is more comfortable than at any time since 1940.

PUNITIVE TERMS

So intent is the government on building up reserves that it has imposed punitive terms for 1950 deliveries on areas which failed last year, and at the same time a number of regions—notably the Georgian Republic—which in the past have relied largely on grain imported from those parts of Russia better suited for growing it, have been told that they must make themselves self-sufficient in grain.

This quite new policy is bound up closely with the chronic failure of the Soviet transport system to keep pace with the ever-increasing demands placed on it.—OFNS Copyright

'Blest Be The Tie That Binds'

Egypt Struggles For Education

By PHILIP TOYNBEE From Cairo

WITH education, as with all too many activities in Egypt, the facade is more imposing than the substance. There is a reasonably impressive peak to a pyramid which has a base of clay. As yet no system of free, compulsory education exists—which does not prevent the present government announcing its plans for the creation of two new universities, one in Cairo, the other in Assiut. There is indeed, a desultory array of village schools in the countryside, but almost their only purpose is to teach the children of the fellahin that minimum of Arabic which will enable them to learn passages of the Koran by heart.

DEVOUT STUDENTS

The peak of this particular pyramid is the Moslem university of Al Azhar in Cairo, a very ancient and very distinguished religious institution. Thousands of devout students come here to study from all over the Moslem world, but their principal subject is still limited to the Koran and the infinite commentaries on commentaries of the Koran. At the moment other subjects are creeping into the curriculum—rather in the same way that other subjects than the classics gradually invaded Oxford and Cambridge during the nineteenth century. Nevertheless, Al Azhar remains primarily a religious organization, deeply serious and thorough in its own specialized territory.

As for the state system of primary and secondary education, it is organized on the French model. That is to say, it is rigidly centralized, and in theory every primary school in the country is listening to the same words from its schoolmaster at any given hour of the day. In Egypt this system has its own very particular disadvantages. Academic strikes are not limited to the student age-group and it is not unknown for little girls of eight to march through the streets declaring their passionate indignation at the presence of British troops in the Canal Zone. Almost any issue will do. On other occasions students have been on strike against the standard required of them in their examinations.

These frequent strikes have a peculiarly disastrous effect in a centralized educational system, since that section of the curriculum which was scheduled for the missing period must simply be left out. You proceed with the program for May 20 as if the last day of study had been not May 10 but May 19.

On occasions, in the Fouad University itself, it has been decided that the percentage of failures in a given examination has been too high. The action taken has not been to reprimand the failures, or to concentrate on insuring that they should pass on their second attempt, but quite simply to convert them into successes by a wave of the academic wand.

EXTREMELY MODERNIST

The Fouad University is at the opposite pole to Al Azhar. Its general tone is extremely modernist, and there is an increasing emphasis on technical and scientific education. Probably more than half the students are confessed free-thinkers, whose inclinations are all towards Europe and away from the traditional Arabic past. In spite of the many strikes and a certain frivolity in the examination system, there is undoubtedly a serious wish, both in the government and educated classes, that this and the other lay universities of Egypt should become serious institutions on European lines.

Kashmir Has Warlike Peace

By RAWLE KNOX, from Uri, Kashmir

PERCHED above us on top of the Himalayan foothills at heights ranging from 11,000 to 18,000 feet, small groups of Indian soldiers are constantly on the watch, day and night. Opposite them and only a few hundred yards away, Pakistani pickets are equally alert. For though the "Cease Fire" in disputed Kashmir was sounded well over a year ago, the armies concerned are still very much on a war footing.

STRICT ORDERS

The strict orders to those isolated, lofty pickets are: "No fraternization." Sometimes, junior officers admit, one side may ask the other over for tea, but—officially at any rate—there are no recorded cases of an acceptance.

This soldiering, this active inactivity, must be one of the most tedious jobs in the world. Even now, in the heat of the summer, while brigade headquarters at Uri in the valley sweaters under the attack of the sun and the flies, the mountain-top pickets shiver every night. In the higher passes the air is so rarified that if you put your head under the blanket you can hardly breathe—and if you poke it out the cold bites nose and ears. There is no communication with headquarters below except by runner, for both sides—despite an intimate knowledge of each other's whereabouts—are too cautious to signal by the easily intercepted lamp or flag.

In the winter, of course, there is snow everywhere, even in Uri, which is 3,000 feet up. Then the troops, many of whom had never seen snow before they were sent to Kashmir, huddle on the hillside in bunkers and wonder when this peace will stop being so like a war. For when it snows in the Himalayas it snows blindly, and for days on end. The brigade commander here tells a story that once during the fighting two Indian battalions advanced for miles through a snowstorm without finding a trace of the enemy. Then the snow cleared and they found themselves just behind a Pakistani gun position. They had passed clean through the enemy lines without either side realizing it!

As hard a job as any on this night-mare border is that of the United Nations military observers. Brigadier Angles, the cheerful handsome Canadian who leads the mission in Srinagar, has had to take a jeep to places where no vehicle has ever passed before; and has solved such problems as the slaughter of a picket of seven by villagers who pleaded they were justified because the soldiers had demanded a local virgin each to solace them for the winter.

BOUNDARY LINE

Everywhere a picket goes a U.N. observer must have been also, for he has to demarcate the actual boundary and get the agreement of the opposing commanders on the spot. At some points geography has got the better of human nature and the boundary remains obscure; a certain French officer took one look at the mountain he was supposed to climb and asked the local Indian and Pakistani officers to consider the border "undefined," while a more active Canadian captain is still trying to persuade the appropriate Indian and Pakistani commanders to come and see his delimitation—while they are both happy to accept his word.

UPON the United Nations rests the responsibility of finding a safe solution for the Korean upheaval—the most dangerous threat to global peace which the organization has thus far encountered.

This conflict, in its essence, is another clash between the leaders of two ideologies—Russia, which is backing North Korea, and the United States, which has sponsored the South Koreans in establishing their republic.

Thus the position is far too dangerous to be dealt with in any other way than by concerted action in the U.N. Direct armed intervention by either Washington or Moscow in Korea would be almost certain to produce the war which nobody wants.

It may be splitting hairs rather fine, but the provision of military supplies to the Koreans—either north or south—isn't placed in the category of armed intervention technically.

The only satisfactory solution would be to halt the fighting altogether, and that would have to be done through concerted action in the United Nations.

The current position reminds one of another Far Eastern crisis which the League of Nations encountered in 1922. Japan's aggression against China in Manchuria was brought before the League and there were heated arguments over the possible use of sanctions against Nippon.

But the League was too timid to meet the crisis squarely. Japan's only punishment was condemnation and she resigned from the peace organization.

This failure of the League to measure up to the situation was credited by many observers with having much to do with its loss of face and ultimate demise. That is a point which may be worth remembering now as a somewhat similar situation comes up for action in the U.N.

STUFF OF A COMMUNIST

Ottawa Journal

Two of the three men arrested as Communist saboteurs in the United States this week were university graduates, the other a successful machinist.

Not much support there for the claim, heard so often, that Communists are the creatures of poverty, and that if we made people more prosperous communism would disappear.

The truth is that communism is not an economic creed, not something which appeals to people because they are poor. It is a religion, a philosophy, an atheistic creed which poisons the hearts and souls of men regardless of their status.

Time, we think, more of us came to understand this—in trying to combat communism it is terribly important.

The pursuit of knowledge leads pursuers into many strange byways and enlists strange allies. The search for a better light bulb has led one searcher, initially at least, out of his laboratory into the fields, preceded by an eager army of small boys following the pale gleam of fire-files and the brighter gleam of 25 cents for every 100 they catch.

The purpose is to extract from the fire-fly the secret of his fire. Because it appears to be nearer the goal of light without heat than man has been able to attain.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"WELL," said the Elevator Man, "I guess it was a logical step. For years we've been making our picnic grounds hideous with broken bottles, cans and waste paper, cluttering up our beaches with garbage and generally leaving a horrible mess wherever mankind congregates. Now comes the final perfection of that conduct. Some British scientists suggest that we dump our radio-active waste material on the moon. Seems the deadly stuff is going to pile up as atomic energy comes into use. It can't be buried or dumped in the sea without danger to us all; and it stays active for hundreds of years. So, they say, we'll get rid of it by shooting it in rockets to the moon. Going up!"

"That," said the Elevator Man, "is a plan in the grand manner. We've filled our earth with refuse and trash, so now we'll start using the sky for a garbage heap. We should be ashamed to look the man in the moon in the face. And the fairy tales about green cheese will have to be revised. You can hear the next generation of grandmothers explaining, 'It's uranium discarded after fissionable disintegration in nuclear reactors, my dears.' And lunacy will certainly be back in style. Watch the step!"

"But," said the Elevator Man, "if we're going to go through with it, let's do it properly. Let's send up all the human beings we'd gladly discard, too, just to see that the piles are kept neat and tidy. Heading the list will be you know who. And along with him we could send all his peace-hating henchmen in all the lands of the earth: the thugs—domestic and international—the aggressors, the tough guys, the brats, the grab-it-and-run boys, the border jumpers, the sabre rattlers, the espionage artists and the conspirators. Send 'em all up there to shovel the slag, but don't give 'em any slingshots to shoot it back with."

Youth Sentenced For Wounding In Jealous Rage

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Daniel Silbernagel, 17, was sentenced Monday to six months' definite and one-year indefinite in the New Haven Borstal home for the jealousy wounding of Sapper Alfred Way.

The 21-year-old soldier was wounded at Chilliwack April 11 when Silbernagel quarreled with him over a waitress both had been dating.

"I am satisfied you are not a criminal," Judge Harry Sullivan told Silbernagel. "It is your jealousy and quick temper you are up against."

The youth was charged with assault with attempt to maim.

WEST COAST EXPEDITION SUCCESSFUL

Clue Given By Discovery Of Mice May Determine Origin Of Islands

A clue which may give scientists information on the origin of the rugged, weather-beaten Scott Islands, the most westerly islands off the northwest coast of Vancouver Island, has been discovered by Provincial Museum biologists.

The discovery, white-footed mice, a distinct species of rodents, may eventually solve the riddle of the mysterious islands. The rodents may disprove the theory that the whole of the B.C. coast was covered with ice in the glacial period thousands of years ago.

The museum party, which returned over the week-end to Victoria aboard the fisheries patrol vessel Howay after spending nearly two weeks on the islands, also discovered traces of an ancient Indian settlement. They did not have time, however, to investigate the discovery.

EXPEDITION CHIEF

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, was in charge of the expedition. Others were, Charlie Guiguet, mammal biologist, George Hardy, botanist, and William Beebe, zookeeper at Vancouver's Stanley Park.

The biologists were chiefly concerned with conducting a biological survey of Cox, Lanz, Boreford and Sartine Islands. The last two are better known to fishermen as East and West Haycocks. Triangle Island, which forms part of the group, was visited by the same party last year.

Describing the expedition as successful, Dr. Carl praised the crew of the Howay under the command of Capt. W. Redford for making it possible for them to land on the islands.

He said it proved difficult to make a landing due to high, precipitous cliffs and heavy swells.

The tidal currents there are treacherous," he said, "and the wind comes up without warning."

Dr. Carl said with the exception of Triangle, the islands were covered with dense vegetation.

The four biologists agreed that the most important scientific discovery from their point of view was the discovery of the entirely different species of mice on four of the islands.

"The puzzle is how the mice got there," Mr. Guiguet said. "There are several theories. One thing is certain: that they are entirely different from mice found anywhere else in B.C."

Mr. Guiguet said if the rodents were different it might mean they survived the glacial period. They may also have been transported there by floating debris of landslides from the mainland," he added.

"At any rate the mice have been there for many thousands of years," he said.

Dr. Carl took movies of sea lions living on the islands and pelagic bird colonies. Large numbers of puffins, cassin auklets, cormorants, petrels, eagles, falcons, murrelets and gulls, live on two of the islands, he said.

Large British Order For B.C. Lumber If Price Cut

200,000,000 Board Feet Would Be Paid For Out Of Marshall Aid Fund, Howe Tells House

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Monday in the Commons British Columbia could obtain a United Kingdom order for 200,000,000 board feet of lumber if it quoted a reasonable price.

Replying to Howard Green (P.C.-Vancouver-Quadra), Mr. Howe said Canadian exports of lumber have been going to United States, attracted there by abnormally high prices.

"I think British Columbia can have all that (British) order if they will quote a reasonable price," he said. "I do not think they can expect to get the American price; but they can certainly have it if they will quote anything like the price which they applied to earlier exports to the United Kingdom."

Mr. Green said he wondered if British Columbia would likely get the whole order since it would be paid for out of Marshall Aid funds.

Mr. Howe said that British Columbia could have had all of a previous United Kingdom order, but actually took only 75 per cent because that was all it could handle.

"If British Columbia quotes on all this order and quotes a reasonable price, there is no doubt in the world that all the order will be placed in British Columbia."

BUSINESS ASKED TO FREE MEN FOR RESERVE CAMPS

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Monday in the Commons that Canada's reserve army units are up to something more than 50 per cent.

He told Douglas Harkness (P.C.-Calgary West), that 10,000 out of 44,000 reserve men went to summer training camp in 1949.

The Defence Department had been pressing industry to support the reserve army by allowing their men to attend camp.

Mr. Harkness said there were reports some civil servants were having difficulties getting off work to attend summer reserve army camps. Mr. Claxton said that was contrary to government policy.

$425,000,000 In Defence Budget

Great Sum Voted By Commons As Fighting In Korea Debated

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Monday quickly passed a $425,000,000 defence budget on the heels of official statements that the outbreak of a Communist-inspired war in Korea had created a "very grave" military situation.

Adopted capped a brisk three-hour debate in which opposition members expressed concern over the Korean developments. Defence Minister Claxton said the situation might force him to ask Parliament for greater outlays and External Affairs Minister Pearson termed it an act of "unprovoked aggression."

Mr. Claxton made these announcements:

1. If the Korean picture continues to "look serious," the navy may delay sending a six-ship squadron to European waters for exercises in August with the Royal Navy.

2. The R.C.A.F. will start early in 1951 to send fighter squadrons to Britain and possibly later to Europe for training. They will go overseas on a rotation basis, each for a few months.

3. Canada and the United States have decided to drop peacetime operation of a chain of long-range radio navigation stations in the Arctic because of poor radio conditions.

NO FACT MOVE

Mr. Pearson said the Korean attack, despite its severity, had not changed the government's opinion that the time was not yet ripe for a Pacific pact. This also was the opinion of the United States, the United Kingdom and India.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, suggested Soviet aid and direction were behind the Korean aggression.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, asked Mr. Claxton to say how much money he needs for adequate defence of Canada and pledged his party to support the minister.

Mr. Claxton said that if another $200,000,000 were available a large part of it would go into equipment and the acceleration of aircraft production and shipbuilding. But the present budget, a record one, was what the government felt represented a fair contribution by Canada to Atlantic pact security.

READY FOR ACTION

Mr. Claxton said he believed Canada's defence forces are adequate to deal with any airborne invasion. If there was an attack on this country, it would come by air. No land attack was anticipated.

Howard Green (P.C.-Vancouver-Quadra) said Canada could not "afford to take chances" and asked if the country was in a position to put fighter squadrons into action in the northwest on short notice. Mr. Claxton did not reply.

Unfavorable Comment On B.C.'s Roads

British Columbia's roads came in for some criticism at a joint luncheon of the Gyro Club and the Chamber of Commerce Monday at the Empress. "I certainly met more pot holes on arriving in Victoria than I did in six months in England," said the guest speaker, H. Cuthbert Holmes, who spoke on his visit to Britain.

He said the roads in England were splendid. They are narrow but the traffic travels at a high rate of speed. Even so there are surprisingly few accidents, he told members. He attributed the safety of the roads to the courtesy of the drivers. "You practically never hear a horn over there,"

He expressed hope that the government here would pattern their road building after the British. He said they build their roads from the ground up and they don't just fill the holes up with a little dirt and gravel.

EMPHASIS ON SPORT

Great emphasis is being put on sport in Britain at the present time. Mr. Holmes told of being at a soccer game where there were 65,000 spectators present. He said that great crowds gathered to see the horse races. "No profession is doing as well as the bookies," he exclaimed.

There has been an astonishing amount of war damage in England. "Almost every block has a gutted building in it. There was far more damage than I had expected. It was a grisly, grisly sight," he said.

The health of children below the age of 12 is amazing. Over 40, the people look gaunt. They have been through two wars. The young women look vigorous and athletic, he remarked.

Mr. Holmes was optimistic about England's future. "I believe England has before her a greater era than the great history she has played in the past," he said.

No New Trial For Judith Coplon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Judith Coplon Monday was refused a new trial on charges that she removed United States government documents from the Justice Department, where she used to work.

The 29-year-old girl argued unsuccessfully that "newly-discovered evidence" indicated the government had concealed wire-tapping activity at the trial. She is under a sentence of 40 months to 10 years.

Kell Proves Right To Batting Crown

"The test of a true batting champion is whether he can repeat."

Wise old Connie Mack first made that remark many years ago. It still is true today.

Since 1900 there have been 44 different major league batting champions. Only eight won the title two or more consecutive seasons although nine others returned to the top after a lapse of a year or more.

Four City Women Qualify In P.N. Golf

Marg Todd Cracks Course Record At Shaughnessy

VANCOUVER—Led by Mrs. Margaret Todd with a three-under-par 75, four of Victoria's women devotees qualified for match play in the championship flight of the annual Pacific Northwest Golf Association tournament at Shaughnessy Club here Monday.

The others to gain the select 32 in the championship flight were Miss Elizabeth Paynter of Colwood with 79; Mrs. H. T. Matson of Colwood, 87; and Miss Peggy Bagley of Uplands, 90. Through Mrs. Todd broke the course record with her par-breaking 75. Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Oregon, bettered this mark by four strokes with a seven-under-par 71 to take medal honors.

Defending champion Adeane Anderson of Helena, Montana, finished with a 79.

MEN'S EVENT
Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver held the lead at the 18-hole mark of the men's 36-hole qualifying round with a three-under-par 69. Percy Clogg, also of Vancouver, and Erv Parent of Seattle were in second place with 71's.

Jack Potts of Colwood was the best of the Victorians with a 77. Jackson Walker finished with a pair of 44's for 88 while Gordon Verley carded an 80. Jack Clark had an 81.

The tourney continues through the week with the second 18 of the men's qualifying round being played at Capilano today. Women's open match play at Shaughnessy today.

NEW YORK—Solly Levitt, 150½, New York, outpointed Gene Boland, 154, Detroit (8).

NINE NEW HOCKEY IMMORTALS

Frank Patrick, Si Griffis Added To List In Sports Famous Shrine

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Hockey's Hall of Fame, inscribed with the names of 27 immortals of Canada's national winter sport—players and builders—made room for another nine today, including Montreal's battle-scarred Edouard Charles (Newsy) Lalonde and Vancouver's Frank Patrick. Four of the nine honored today are dead.

New members are: Lalonde, Patrick, Mike Grant, Si Griffis, Joe Malone, all living; and Allan (Scotty) Davidson, Charles Graham Drinkwater, George Richardson and Harry J. Trihey, now dead.

Lalonde is one of the most colorful personalities admitted to the Hall since it was instituted seven years ago. The one-time printer's devil, now 62 and living in Montreal, had few peers in the game.

Newsy gained his fame when professional hockey was in the teething stage. He played with Cornwall in the old Federal League; Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., in the International; Berlin (Kitchener) in the Trolley; Renfrew in the National Hockey Association; Montreal Canadiens of the N.H.A. and its successor, the National Hockey League, and Saskatoon in the Western Canada League and Pacific Coast League.

Syd Howe, former Detroit Red Wings centre and left-winger, is credited in modern records with Great sluggers like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Terry, Tris Speaker, Joe Medwick and Goose Goslin couldn't repeat as batting kings. Even Stan Musial with three titles and Harry Heilmann with four couldn't put two crowns back to back.

This brings us to George Kell, who won the American League batting championship by 2/10,000ths of a point over Ted Williams last fall.

For some reason Kell's victory over Williams was greeted with applause usually reserved for "cheese champions."

It is by no means certain that Kell will win the championship again this year. There is no doubt, however, that thus far he's been the most valuable player in his league. More than any other player, he has been most responsible for the Tigers' lofty perch.

Kell had a hand in Detroit's uphill 6-4 victory over Chicago White Sox in yesterday's only big league encounter. George got two singles and a walk in four times at bat. He was the only Tiger to score against Billy Pierce until Detroit blasted over the four-run winning rally in the eighth. Kell had a hand in that, too.

The victory increased the Tigers' first-place lead over the idle New York Yankees to 3½ games.

Favorites Gain Victories In Wimbledon Play

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UP)—Second-ranked Billy Talbot of New York and third-ranked Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt led the seeded players into the third round of the Wimbledon tennis championships today.

Talbot won his second match without the loss of a set when he rolled over Marcel Coen of Egypt, 6-1, 6-3, 6-0. Drobny likewise captured his second straight-set match, this one over British Davis Cupper Don Butler, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

A crowd of 20,000, mostly women, poured into the 16-court enclosure to witness the second day's play. The weather was sultry.

Budge Patty of Los Angeles, seeded fifth, also won his second round match, downing Sub Sawhney of India, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4. Sixth-seeded Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., engaged in a tortuous last-set battle with Nareesh Kumar of India before beating him, 6-2, 6-4, 12-10.

Top-seeded Frank Sedgman of Australia also ran into trouble. However, despite a tough second set he downed Robert Haillet of France, 6-4, 8-6, 6-2.

Halfway Mark Near In Boxla Schedule

This week marks the halfway point in the Intercity Lacrosse League schedule for the Shamrocks but, before they face two important games.

On Wednesday night the Rocks journey to Kerrisdale for a game with coach Eddie Powers' Richmond squad and then return home to meet the ever-improving Burrard Westerns at the Memorial Arena Friday.

At first glance it would appear that the Shamrocks face an easy task at Kerrisdale but since the Arkays' last appearance here they have been considerably strengthened.

Roddy McLeod and Bill Harris, two Burrard veterans, have joined the club while Powers has also dropped strip. This may be all the Arkays need to make them a contender in the six-team race.

SAME LINE-UP
Coach Arnold Ferguson announced today that he plans no changes in the Shamrock line-up for the game at Kerrisdale. However, he was still undecided as to whether Bill Andrews or Buzz Long would start in the nets.

Andrews, who has been suffering from water on the knee lately, was replaced by Long in the club's narrow 9 to 8 defeat by Adanacs on Thursday. That was Long's first complete game and reports are that he turned in a creditable performance.

Burrards, who play here Friday, are the only club the Shamrocks have been unable to beat this season. The locals dropped a 16 to 14 overtime thriller in the Canadian champions' only previous visit to the city and the same week were edged 11 to 7 by Johnny Cavill's club at Vancouver Forum.

Hottest club in the league at present, Burrards are riding a five-game winning streak.

Last night at New Westminster the Adanacs moved into a tie with Indians and Burrards for first place in the league, trouncing the Indians 14 to 5.

The A's outscored the tribe in every period but the first. They held a 4 to 2 edge at the half, were on top 7 to 3 at three-quarter time and pumped seven goals past Stan Joseph in the final stanza.

Jack Northup, the league's leading scorer, picked up five points on four goals and an assist. Mike Munro added a trio for the A's. Glen Johnson paced the Indians with two goals.

Tonight Burrards get a chance to take over undisputed possession of first place when they meet the Salmonbellies.

A's Come From Far Back For Victory

Defeat Tacoma In 10th; Marshall Goes Tonight

By PETE SALLAWAY

Ronnie Smith, Joe Kronberg and Junior Krug. Take the three names, put them in a hat and draw one out and one can have the number one hero in Victoria Athletics' spine-tingling 10-inning 10 to 9 victory over the W.L.L. leading Tacoma Tigers at Athletic Park last night before 1,700.

Smith turned in a terrific relief job after taking over from Aldon Wilkie in the 5th and came up with three hits, his last one in the 10th setting up the winning run.

Kronberg punched out a timely double in the 7th with two away to send home two runs and give the Athletics a tie. He singled in the 10th and scored the winning counter.

Krug came through with the single in the 10th inning to send home the deciding run with two out.

For four innings the Athletics looked a well beaten ball club. The boys appeared to have lost all their hustle and when Tacoma moved into an 8 to 1 lead after four and a half innings it looked as if the Victoria club would just play out the string. Starter Wilkie had gone out under fire in a three-run Tacoma uprising in the fifth and the fans were a disgruntled lot.

BIG INNING
Then the fun started. The Athletics, who had managed a lone hit off Hunk Anderson up until the fifth loaded the bases with two away, on a pair of walks and a blooper single by Smith. Jim West dropped a hit into short centre for two runs.

Gene Thompson doubled for another pair. Johnny Hack, playing his first game for the club, up-loaded a terrific triple to deep left for another run and scored himself on Bill Dunn's double off the top of the centrefield fence.

Kronberg walked and Don Carter took over on the mound for Tacoma, striking out Al Roning to finally end the scoring spree at six runs.

Wimpy Quinn, who was a source of trouble to the A's all night with four for five, doubled in the seventh and scored on Bill Sheets' single to move Tacoma ahead 9 to 7. Kronberg's double after Hack had singled and Dunn walked made it a 9 to 9 game in the bottom half of the frame.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

When outfielder Edo Vanni made his reappearance in the W.L.L. Friday night in the livery of the Spokane Indians, it meant that president Bob Abel had backed up on his original decision. After investigating the Vanni case, following his being suspended and fined by the Victoria Athletics, Abel informed Vanni in an official wire that he had been suspended by the league indefinitely.

It Was A Short 30 Days

Abel further disclosed the league suspension would be for a minimum period of 30 days from June 8. The exact length of the enforced rest was to have been announced by the league proxy before July 1. To the knowledge of the writer Abel has never officially announced the lifting of Vanni's suspension or his reasons for permitting him back into the league before the expiration of the 30-day period.

Such action by Abel is certainly a slap in the face for the Victoria club. At the league meeting held in Tacoma last week the Vanni case was discussed but the directors took no action, deciding to leave the matter in the hands of the president. So Vanni's reinstatement can be laid right on Abel's doorstep. And there has been no new evidence brought out to warrant such action. It just means Abel made a decision then failed to live up to it.

Lassen Was Not There

It is amazing the number of local baseball followers who still believe that certain broadcasts of games emanate from the actual scene of the contests. Sunday night a fan phoned the writer to tell how Leo Lassen had paid high tribute to outfielder K. Chorton for his performance with the Seattle Rainiers against Portland in a Coast League game in Portland. It was all very nice, but Lassen wasn't at the game and his description of the play was taken from a telegraphic report. The same holds true for the local broadcasts of the Athletics away games.

Same Old Soccer Story

Victoria's soccer players can just about do a turnabout then resume training for another season. The curtain was dropped on the 1949-50 campaign Saturday when St. Andrew's made a trip here for nothing better than a good workout against Heaneys in the semifinals of the Province Cup.

Chatting to local commissioner Pat Mulcahy Saturday I treated him to another of those futile blasts about the length of the soccer season in the province. "It will be different next season," he said, adding the rider "of course that is providing we don't run into another rough winter and have play held up for several weeks." That is the same story I've listened to for last 10 years. Only way the soccer season will ever be kept within a sane period will be for the players to lay down the law and refuse to turn out, say, after April 30.

Jokers Hold Lead Safe In Boxla Race

Foul Bay stayed close on the heels of the league-leading Jokers in the Senior B. Lacrosse League race last night as both squads chalked up victories in the double bill at the Memorial Arena.

Bays waltzed to an 11 to 0 triumph over the Navy to hand the tars their 11th straight defeat while Jokers rode to a 9 to 5 win over Tillamums on the strength of a 6 to 0 halftime lead.

Jim McKiechie, ex of the Shamrocks and apparently making another bid for a spot on the intercity club, rapped in three goals to pace the Foul Bay attack. Sailors often came close to preventing a whitewashing but lacked finish around the goal.

Ray Douglas was the leading light in Jokers' ninth win of the campaign scoring four goals. Buzz Hudson added a brace for runner-up honors.

Goody Eastford was the best of the Tillamums with three of their five tallies.

One person who deserves much credit for Jokers' showing last night is Kenny Banks. Shoved into the nets when regular netminder Jim Hetherington received a match misconduct penalty in the second period, Banks held the Tillamums in check the rest of the way.

Next league games will take place at the arena Wednesday with Jokers meeting Navy and Tillamums clashing with Foul Bay.

Campbell May Give Up Record Attempt

CONISTON, Lancashire, Eng. (AP)—Donald Campbell of England said Monday that he may give up all attempts for the present to set a world speed record.

The reason? That 160.3235-mile-an-hour mark set by Stanley S. Sayres in his boat "Slo-Mo-Shun IV" over Lake Washington, Seattle.

"If this is official, then our job is defeated for the time being," Campbell said. "This speed is out of the range of our present boat and is five miles per hour faster than the speed at which the Bluebird is known to stay on the water."

Two Unknowns Battle For P.G.A. Title

Harper Eliminates Demaret To Complete Tourney Surprises

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Henry Williams Jr. of Secane, Pa., virtually unknown outside the player ranks, reached for their first big jackpot of fame and fortune today in a 36-hole match for the P.G.A. golf championship.

They had it all to themselves after six days of firing at Scioto Country Club rubbed out the glamour boys of the tournament trail—Jimmy Demaret, Sam Snead, Johnny Palmer, Lloyd Mangrum and a host of others.

Harper personally accounted for Demaret in the semifinals yesterday, blasting out the de-bonair Texan, 2 and 1, after leading every step-of-the-way around rolling Scioto.

Williams got in on a pass when 43-year-old Henry Picard of Cleveland, champion in 1939, wilted in the 94-degree heat after piling up a six-hole lead with only eight to play. The 33-year-old Williams, son of a pro and born near a golf course, caught Picard at the 35th hole and nailed him on the 38th with a par four when the former champion blew a two-foot putt on the second extra hole.

But Picard was philosophical and obviously relieved the strain was over. He played through the week with a special glove padding arthritis pains and was bone-tired after three days of 36-hole matches and two 18-hole matches on another.

Furmston Again Victim In Winless No-Hitter

John Furmston of Brentwood Aces hurled his second no-hit game in two years last night and again it ended in defeat.

Taking the hill against Douglas Tire in a senior A softball game at Central Park, Furmston allowed the league leaders nary a blow but when the dust had settled down Douglas Tire were the winners, 3 to 0.

Big John bumped into all his trouble in two innings, the first and the eighth.

In the first he walked the first three batters to face him and with the help of an overthrow at first by shortstop Hal Yardley, two of these scored. Then in the eighth the combination of another base on balls, a wild pitch and two passed balls enabled Tiremen to score their third run. Last summer Furmston set down the Seattle Rippers in an exhibition game only to be charged with a 1 to 0 loss after pitching near perfect ball.

Last night he was away off the plate in the first inning, and that was where the game was lost. From the first frame on only three runners reached first base and the suddenly weak-hitting Douglas Tire managed to get the ball out of the infield only one two occasions.

Voss New Boss At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Carl Voss of Minneapolis, who resigned as president of the United States Hockey League two weeks ago, was signed Monday as coach and general manager of the St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League.

The new coach and general manager succeeds Ebbie Goodfellow in both jobs. Goodfellow recently was named coach of the Chicago Black Hawks of the N.H.L.

McPherson's Decorators edged West Heat, 7 to 6, in a Senior B Men's Softball League game last night. In senior C action, Esquimalt A.A. nipped Ramblers, 9 to 7, and St. Louis College walloped Standard Furniture, 21 to 13.

Pro Ice Clubs Sign No Player Under 18 Years

MONTREAL (CP)—Professional hockey leagues in Canada and the United States Monday classed as "untouchables" all amateur players under 18 years of age.

President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said that professional leagues in the two countries had agreed not to negotiate with players under 18 years of age. The 16-year minimum was introduced during the war years owing to a scarcity of experienced players.

Amateurs on professional teams' negotiation lists, who have not attained their 18th birthday and were signed prior to Monday, are not affected by the ruling.

The decision to revert to the old age-limit as reached by the professional leagues after a joint relations committee, made up of league representatives, agreed

Collingwood Beats Saints

VANCOUVER (CP)—Collingwood eliminated St. Andrews from the Dominion soccer championship 2 to 1 in a first-round game of the series before 300 fans.

The winners now will meet South Burnaby Legion, winners of the District League second-division title, in a second-round game.

St. Andrews had out their full team, the one which beat Vancouver City in the Coast League finals.

Right from the outset, Collingwood hustled the Saints and never let them settle down.

that "it was in the best interests of the game." The N.H.L. president said the move was not prompted by protests from school authorities, who claimed that professional hockey was interfering with schoolboys scholastic activities.

INSTALLMENT ONE

Another envelope was in my key rack at the Shelby Square, the apartment house honored by my residence. It was 12 noon on the dot as I crossed the apartment foyer, trying to decide if the envelope was like the others. It was. Miss Croft, who was on duty at the desk, reached for the envelope and placed it before me.

"Well, Mr. Corbett! This is getting to be quite a habit, your coming home at noon for your mail! Must be very special mail—from a very special girl!"

Miss Croft giggled. At 47 she was still waiting for the right man, and the bubbling radio beneath the desk emitted a daily diet of soap opera goo. She giggled again—as I leered and even tried to blush as I picked up the envelope. I carried it to the elevator and rode upstairs.

Not until I was inside my apartment did I open the envelope. I did so with trembling fingers. I trembled not because I was a swain in love but because I was a very much worried guy. The contents of the envelope slipped from my nervous fingers and fell to the carpet. I stared down at the crisp new $1,000 bill.

NEW EXPERIENCE

I picked it up and felt of it. It was genuine, like the other three that had come on the three preceding days. I removed my billfold, took out the three bills and placed the fourth with them. Four grand. It was the first time in my life I had ever had that much money in my possession.

Note that I'm not saying it was the first time in my life I ever had that much money. I didn't feel that this was my money. I had no idea whence it had come. I knew no more about why it had been mailed to me. That's what was giving me the jitters.

The first bill had been in the only envelope in my mail pigeon-hole downstairs four days ago. I had come home late in the evening and found the envelope awaiting me. I had been a little curious about it from the start, for ordinarily my mail is addressed in care of the state attorney-general's office. The mail service is quicker there and more frequent.

I had opened the letter at once and pulled the first $1,000 bill right out. I had quickly thrust it back, looked to see if the clerk on the job had observed it. But the clerk was absorbed in a book. I had taken the contents up to my apartment and examined it with fear and trepidation.

The envelope had been carefully sealed so that the bill could not be worked out with a needle. There had been no note with it, no explanation as to why the anonymous donor had sent it to me. But I had feared the worst.

As chief investigator in the office of the state attorney-general I had been offered many a bribe in the past few years. Perhaps the late Oscar Wilde was correct in saying that conscience is the trade name for cowardice, but, whatever the reason for my purity of heart, that fact was that I had never accepted such bribes as were offered me. Perhaps I had never been offered enough.

But this matter of the four $1,000 bills was something new in my experience. I suspected the would-be briber was a shrewd psychologist who appreciated how difficult it is for any one to part with a substantial sum once it has come into his possession. The feel of the four bills in my hand convinced me that losing a tooth would be less painful than parting with them.

How long was this to go on? How many more $1,000 bills was I to receive before I learned the nature of the sine qua non expected of me?

I had already racked my brain trying to guess who the anonymous donor could be. Several routine matters were hanging fire in the office, and a few of them might be of enough importance to make such bribery worthwhile. As chief investigator I was in a position to splash a lot of whitewash.

My boss, the Hon. Burton H. Keever, trusted me farther than he would admit to himself. Many times he had gambled his career on my judgment and upon my reports. If I gave a clean bill of health to someone under investigation, Keever accepted my report as final. Such a case had happened during the past week. Keever had considered criminal prosecution of a bankrupt accident insurance company president named McGregor, but my report had caused him abandon all thought of prosecution.

INQUIRY FEARED

The only conceivable answer to the riddle of the four $1,000 bills was that someone wanted me to return another clean bill of health. Whoever that someone was, he could not stand investigation. He knew investigation was inevitable, and he was anticipating it was a bribe. Perhaps the morrow would bring another installment.

Of course one way out would have been to go directly to my boss upon receipt of the first $1,000 bill and to have gone to him with each succeeding installment. That was the obvious, the ingenious course. But, in my years of working as investigator for the Hon. Burton H. Keever I had grown wary of the obvious and ingenious.

I doubt that Keever is different from other men; he is only a trifle more cautious and a considerable more ambitious. His political ambitions are lofty. He rose from the office of the district attorney of Capital County to his present position as attorney-general, and his next immediate goal is the governor's mansion. But he listens seriously if some fawning political hack assures him that his ultimate goal is an imposing residence.

Such a man turns the most casual occurrence to his advantage. He is an opportunist capable of seeing thousands of votes in an incident a less Machiavellian man would ignore. Working constantly for such a character I had become cautious. Any ingenuousness I had ever possessed had been eroded away by the sand-blast of Keever's ambition.

It was true that I could not figure out how he could crucify me for making a clean breast of the matter of the $1,000 bills. But I was taking no chances. I had been rudely awakened many times before; I had drunk many a bitter cup of naivete. The thing to do was to get the thing under control, learn all the angles before I unburdened my soul to Keever.

I thrust the four bills into my billfold, went to the writing desk and placed the envelope with the first three which I had received. I had checked those three envelopes for fingerprints, found only smudges probably left by postal employees and Miss Croft. The envelopes had been postmarked at Capital City at an early hour in the morning. They had all been addressed on a typewriter.

SENDER CAUTIOUS

I was certain that they had been addressed to my apartment house because the sender had feared that they might be inadvertently opened in front of curious eyes if they had been directed to the attorney-general's office. That fact indicated either that the sender knew the office staff very well or was merely guided by a general cynicism. At any rate I was glad that I had been given no chance to pull that first $1,000 bill from its envelope in plain sight of the office help.

It was agonizing not to be able to guess who the sender was. I could not even guess the sender's motive. I couldn't imagine anyone hating me enough to spend that kind of money to frame me, but I did wonder if some of Keever's big-time enemies sought to ruin him through disgracing me as the recipient of bribes.

purely selfish motive and expected some service from me after all. If that was the case, sooner or later he would contact me. But that would not happen until the advance payment had been fully remitted. I had a hunch that there would be just one more $1,000 bill. That would make an even five grand, a respectable retainer even to a federal judge.

I left my apartment and went downstairs. Miss Croft stopped me with: "There was a call for you this morning. About 10, I think. I meant to tell you before."

She leered knowingly. "You don't know who it was?" Miss Croft smirked. "She didn't say. It didn't sound like any of the girls who have called you in the past."

Man Born In U.S. Capital Dies

GERMANIA, Pa. (AP)—Otto Braun, 92, who claimed he was the only person born in the United States Capitol Building in Washington, died Monday. He said his father was a sculptor working on one of the Capitol wings when Otto was born June 10, 1858.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"I'm getting so forgetful," apologized Larceny Lou, "that sometimes I can't even remember my own name."

"People like you usually have a number instead of a name," West observed sourly. "I don't know how you manage to stay out of jail!"

As usual, the cause of this outburst was a bridge hand. Lou had managed to swindle both opponents at once by the same play!

West opened the queen of clubs, dummy won with the king. Lou naturally led a trump from the dummy, finessing the nine from his own hand. West's penalty double had made it clear that the king of trumps was badly located, but Lou still hoped to find the jack favorably placed.

As it happened, however, West was able to win the second trick with the jack of trumps. He returned the jack of clubs, and dummy won with the ace.

At this point Lou executed his little swindle. He merely led dummy's remaining trump and finessed the queen from his own hand. He could never get back to dummy again, and he had "absent-mindedly" left the ace of spades in dummy without taking it!

West naturally won the second trump finesse with the king, and returned the 10 of clubs. Lou ruffed the third round of clubs and led three rounds of trumps. This left him with one trump and four diamonds. Each of the other players had to reduce to a holding of five cards.

West looked fearfully at the dummy, which had saved all of the spades. He was sure that South had at least one spade, for it never occurred to West that Lou had left the ace of spades in the dummy without a spade.

In his own hand, West was sure, he had to have Jones Beach. At the Atlas Theatre, he discovered a brand new, unsuspected talent—a fair for languages—during the picture's filming. For one sequence in the film, he pretends to be an immigrant, a situation which required his learning five different foreign dialects.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Science Searching For New Insecticides

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The constant battle against harmful insects, particularly those that cause such important diseases of human beings as malaria, yellow fever, plague and typhus, has made great progress. Control measures aimed at preventing insects from carrying human diseases has been actively pushed for only 50 years.

At first about all that could be done was to drain or destroy the breeding places for mosquitoes by putting fish into the pools where they breed, spraying oily substances over the surface, and measures of a similar nature.

Paris green came along a little later. Other insect-killing substances like pyrethrum have been improved in their killing powers. From the standpoint of the battle against insects World War II was a great success; better chemicals were badly needed and DDT was one of the results of the intensive studies carried out at that time.

DDT is not perfect in all respects—for example, house flies which are exposed to it gradually become resistant. Consequently, the search goes on for new and better insect killers.

But it is not diseases alone which make insects our enemies; the ordinary mosquito bite is uncomfortable enough. The reaction to mosquito bites is not always alike. In some people a bite will cause swelling and severe itching, while in others a reaction is slight and lasts only a short time.

When the mosquito bites, it probably pushes something into the skin but just what this substance is still a matter of debate. It is generally believed to be similar to the chemical which bees inject when they sting.

There have been tries at making extracts from the mosquito in an attempt to create resistance or immunity in people. These trials, however, have not been wholly successful.

Even if a satisfactory substance could be discovered and prepared for this purpose, the resistance probably would not last very long and would have to be repeated each year and usually would not be worth the effort.

Horses' Tails Stolen

CONSORT, Alta. (BUP)—Farmers here were surprised when they rounded up about 80 horses and found them tailless. Apparently the high price of horsehair encouraged a new type of petty larceny. Nearly every horse had its tail clipped.

TALENTED 10-YEAR-OLD is Judith Shaw of Toronto, who in past year has won 32 medals as Highland dancer, including Ontario championship for girls. Also ballet dancer, Judith now owns so many trophies her father has promised to fix up trophy room. (SNS Photo)

Attempt To Pay Fine In Pennies Fails

VANCOUVER (CP)—A motorist's plan for revenge on the police department fizzled. Summoned for speeding through a school zone, he busily collected 1,500 pennies and presented them to the court clerk. Police made him pay in bills.

UNCLE RAY

Among the large, fierce cats of the New World, the puma ranks next to the jaguar in size. Often called a "cougar," and sometimes a "mountain lion" or "panther," it is found in some parts of North America (chiefly in the Rocky Mountain area) and in almost all the wilder parts of South America.

The puma is a powerful beast, and has strong, sharp teeth which are dangerous to any animal which may get within range. The teeth are also dangerous to a human being.

Most pumas in zoos were obtained as cubs while in the wild, or else were born in captivity. It is rare for a full-grown puma to be captured alive, but it has happened.

One day the late Zane Grey, American novelist and sportsman, went out to capture a full-grown puma, if possible. Buffalo Jones, a cowboy, went with Grey, and several hounds were taken along.

A large puma was spied on a branch of a tall pine. The cowboy was about to throw his lasso when the animal leaped to the ground, 30 feet below. Quickly it bounded "like a rubber ball," and ran down a nearby slope. The hounds followed close behind, and the puma ran up the trunk of a tree a few hundred yards away.

Out on a large limb went the puma, but it did not dare to jump, because the limb hung over the edge of a deep ravine. Jones climbed the tree and hurled his lasso. After missing several times, he circled the animal's neck and pulled the rope.

While trying to get down from the tree, Jones slipped for several feet, and lost his hold on the rope. The puma had been pulled toward the trunk, and it fell in the midst of the group below.

The next scene was a mass of fighting animals. The puma against the dogs Jones managed to grasp the end of the lasso rope. The puma rushed toward him, but he dodged out of the way, and the hounds went on with the attack. The rope was tied around the tree.

Meanwhile Grey had fallen to the ground, but he got to his feet again and picked up a stick to use as a club. Jones lassoed the puma again, and tied the second lasso rope to another tree. With his club, Grey drove the dogs away, and helped the cowboy tie up the legs. Then the puma was taken out of the woods—having been "captured alive."

Concern Expressed Over Truck Loading

In a letter from the Town Planning Commission expressing its concern over the methods used to load trucks on municipal streets of Esquimalt and the safety of fastening chains, Esquimalt Council Monday decided to inform the commission the matter had nothing to do with the council or the commission.

It was entirely a matter for the municipality's traffic division, councillors pointed out.

Bermuda was uninhabited until 1609, when Admiral Sir George Somers' ship Sea Venture was wrecked on a sunken reef and a colony was established on the island.

Jobless Total Decreases 86,100 In 4-Week Period

Bureau Reports Figure Was 220,400 At June 15

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's jobless dropped by 86,100 in the four weeks ended June 15, the Labor Department reported Monday, though the out-of-work list remained 74,900 above the figure for the same time last year.

Tories Score Labor View On Schuman Plan

LONDON (UP)—Former Foreign Minister Anthony Eden said Monday the failure of the Schuman plan to pool Europe's coal and steel resources would be "a calamity for peace."

Eden led off the Conservative attack in Parliament on the Labor government's chilly reception of French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman's proposal.

The Conservatives moved that Britain take part in the Schuman plan discussions but reserve freedom of action. Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps said the government would take the vote on the motion as a vote of confidence.

The number of job seekers registered at National Employment offices at June 15 was 220,400. At May 18, 1950, the corresponding figure was 306,500 and at June 15, 1949, it was about 146,400.

Breakdown of unemployment in major cities at June 15, with May 18 figures in brackets:

ANGLO-INDIAN FASTER SETS NEW WORLD MARK

LILLE, France (Reuter)—Fakir Burmah, 40-year-old son of an Indian father and English mother, Monday set a world fasting record of 53 days, one hour and announced his engagement.

Burmah, who had been fasting in a glass coffin with two pythons and scores of vipers since May 4, left his coffin but did not eat anything immediately.

He expressed his pride at beating by one hour the record recently established by his German rival, Willy (Hero) Schmitz.

"I knew I would win from the very first day," he said. More than 2,000 spectators cheered Burmah when he announced his engagement to his 30-year-old French secretary, Suzanne Pottier.

All the vipers died one after the other during the 53 days, and one python is in bad shape, but Burmah said he'll put it right by secret methods.

Burmah smoked 730 cigarettes during his fast, while Schmitz smoked 2,630.

Before climbing into a car with his fiancée, Burmah waved to the crowd and said fasting had been a pleasure among such nice people.

Premier Tells Island Group Major Highways Come First

DUNCAN — Major highways are a must on the provincial government's lists of projects with secondary roads on Vancouver Island having to wait their turn, Premier Byron Johnson told a Duncan Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday.

"The problem of local roads is negligible compared with what we are committed to in building the Trans-Canada Highway," he said. "We must find $25,000,000 for our share of the cost of the Maple Leaf Highway and you just can't go off and do small roads with that sort of thing staring you in the face."

In addition to roads, the Premier discussed conditions on the Fraser and reviewed the hospital insurance scheme.

Retired Laughing

DERBY, Eng. (CP)—A solicitor here laughed so much he had to leave court after a magistrate had knocked an inkwell off his desk on to a spectator's head.

The King granted a royal charter to the University College of the West Indies at Mona, Jamaica, Jan. 10, 1949.

FAVERSHAM, Kent, Eng. (CP)—Sgt. Harold Bishop, who weighs 252 pounds, is believed to be Kent's heaviest policeman.

HOW FAR can a man go in his efforts to become a well-adjusted individual? Maybe he spends years working on personality, learning to find enjoyment in the simple, available things, practicing courtesy until it becomes almost second nature, being kind to people and refusing to be irritated if they aren't kind in return. Maybe he has a job that he likes and works at in a sensible way, giving it all he can without exhausting himself.

Where does it get him? If he's lucky, his friends will think he's a nice guy, even-tempered, dependable, but just a little boring. When he's learned the virtues of moderation, somebody will point out to him that he ought to take moderation in moderation. He ought to let his hair down occasionally, blow his top once in a while, let the folks know he's living.

THE TROUBLE with the well-adjusted personality is that it's just the thickness of a cigarette paper away from being smug. When you're smug you have only one real friend. And it gets monotonous talking to yourself.

Trying to be well-adjusted backs a man off into a corner. Other people adjust themselves to him. They want and expect the same reaction from him to similar circumstances, day in and day out. They treat him like a faucet. He ceases to be a personality, subject to irrational behavior. They think they can just turn the handle and out will gush what they expected.

When, in the course of human events, as the Declaration of Independence puts it, a man gets fed up with trying to be well-adjusted, he's just asking for trouble. Somebody comes to him, goes through the motions of turning on the faucet for the desired reaction, and finds, instead, that the motion sets off a string of fire-crackers. Suddenly the guy has come out of adjustment.

IF HE'D BEEN unpredictable all his life, that wouldn't matter. It's only because he had the appearances of being well-adjusted that the change comes as such a shock. The injury and insult he causes are multiplied a hundredfold. He's lucky if his friends just walk away sadly, muttering that the poor old boy must have blown a gasket.

Once anyone gets the idea that you're well-adjusted, you're typed. Don't try to get out of character. Just be the stable, solid, or stolid, citizen. Keep your balance. But remember that the world loves the pixies. They're interesting. They're refreshing. They command sympathy. People look on their antics with indulgence. That's why so many eccentrics work so hard at being eccentrics.

WHEN YOU TALK to the men in the parks branch of the forestry service, you get a slightly different slant on what makes a park and what goes into its making. If you could hire a helicopter and hover over almost any part of British Columbia, you could see scenery that would spell "park" in capital letters. The problem is to make it accessible. A million dollars or two on a good road would do the trick, but if you multiply a million or two by the hundreds of sites that have attractions, you realize the piggy bank isn't going to go far.

Once a site has been established and a road built to it, park-making starts. It has to be planned like a house. If it has playing facilities, they can't be located on dangerous ground, and they shouldn't be placed too close to the sequestered parts where older people might want to relax in peace and quiet.

IT HAS TO HAVE recreational facilities for all members of the family. That's a problem. Playthings that make good see-saws for the youngsters also make a big splash when they're thrown off an adjacent cliff to the river below by more boisterous park playboys. Ruric benches that offer rest and comfort to the weary, also make good firewood for the barbecue. Your parks-planner has to balance the equation between what the public should have and what some members of the public will do with things they don't own and for which they pay only indirectly.

THERE ARE dozens of angles a park-maker has to consider: safety factors, convenience, natural beauty and the way to show it to advantage, means of keeping a youngster's interest so he won't start carving trees, methods of discouraging petty thefts, ways of stopping incompetents from starting Rover Boy camps.

Engineering questions are involved, too, but a continuing problem is that of meeting the public need for a public and letting the public use it.

Army Marksmen At Five-Day Meet Here

Surveying program of events for five-day B.C. Rifle Association shoot at Healy's Range are, left to right, Sgt. A. V. Lightburn, Seaforth, Mission; Capt. Lauffie

Collings, Victoria, secretary of B.C.R.A.; Maj. J. M. MacNeil, Cloverdale, B.C.R.A., president, and Bdr. C. Rasmussen, Esquimalt Garrison.

Seaforth Sergeant Wins 'Tough' Event At Rifle Shoot Opening

The 6th annual five-day prize shoot of the British Columbia Rifle Association started today at Healy's Range.

Sgt. E. R. Jamieson, Seaforth Highlanders, Vancouver, won the Logana Rose Bowl Trophy in a match for service personnel, with a score of 47. All matches today were for service men or veterans.

The Logana match was shot over a 600-yard range with regulation .303 military rifles. It is one of the toughest matches on the program.

In winning the event, Sgt. Jamieson posted seven bulls' eyes and three inners, only three points off a perfect score. Five points are awarded for a bull's eye, four for an inner and three for a magpie.

Cfm. M. S. Kent, H.Q. B.C. Area Vancouver, also posted a score of 47 but lost out to Jamieson in a count back. Sgt. Jamieson finished with two bull's eyes, while Kent finished with only one.

SCOTTISH WINNER

In the Dunbar Trophy event a "run down match" which followed, Bdr. Frank Drysdale, 16th Canadian Scottish, was crowned the winner in the first count but the official report had not been announced up to press time. Drysdale was leading other contestants with a score of 42. He posted five bull's eyes, two inners and three magpies.

The Dunbar match starts at the 600-yard mark, where contestants are formed up in prone position. When the targets appear they run to the 500-yard mark, lie down and fire two rounds. The target remains exposed for a 45 seconds interval.

On reappearance of the targets, competitors advance to 400 yards and fire another two rounds in a kneeling position.

This manoeuvre is repeated at the 300-yard mark. At 200 yards the targets are exposed for one minute and four rounds may be fired from a standing position. Another two rounds are fired at the 100-yard mark, also from a standing position.

Today's high-point winner will receive the Service Conditions Trophy for high score in service events.

Competition is keen in all events. All contestants are striving to win the Grand Aggregate and a position on the B.C. team, which will travel to Ottawa. Members of the 24-man team will be picked in order of their scores in the aggregate totals.

Among matches held this afternoon were Bren gun competitions from 500 to 200-yard ranges.

Thursday afternoon the first shoot for the Lieutenant-Governor's Medal will begin. The final of this event will be held Saturday morning.

108 Men Fight 23 Fires In B.C. Forests

Twenty-three forest fires are burning in the province and 108 men are fighting them, the B.C. Forest Service reported today.

Main source of concern to foresters is the blaze at Slim Creek in the Prince George district. Fire broke out there Sunday and burned over 80 acres of slash the first day. Winds swept it out of control Monday despite efforts of 40 men, working to keep it from spreading.

Today, the forest service was sending more men and extra bulldozers into the area. It is ironic that while most of the Prince George district has experienced rain in the last few days, the Slim Creek basin where the fire is burning has remained without so much as a light shower.

THREE FIRES HERE

In the Vancouver district, which takes in Vancouver Island, there are three fires burning and 40 men working to bring them under control.

There is one fire on the island and that is at Salmon River. Foresters have it under control after several days of fighting and are now conducting mopping up operations. The fire, which broke out last week-end, burned over about 100 acres, destroying 1,500,000 feet of cold-decked timber, and charring an equal amount of felled and bucked timber.

The fire started when a gasoline tank on a donkey engine blew up. No one was hurt but the engine was completely destroyed.

A two-acre fire was reported in the Duncan area Tuesday but was quickly brought under control by loggers in the district.

The B.C. Forest Service says weather in most parts of the province is favorable for controlling fires.

Dallas Beaches Reported Unfit For Swimming Still

HEAT ON FOR SIX-YEAR-OLD

The heat was on Monday for a busy six-year-old Victorian.

He lit a grass fire on property of Mrs. R. T. Twyman, 852 Courtney Street, which required a run by the fire department.

Police were on hand, too, to give the lad a lecture, and parents, no doubt, were given a hint at how the boy could be warmed by other than matches.

Hard-Of-Hearing Award Won By Randall Locke

A first-grade student at Cloverdale School, Randall Locke, Easter Road, has been selected winner of the annual $50 bursary award, presented by the Victoria Club for the Hard-of-Hearing.

Described as having a splendid personality despite his affliction, Randall was selected on the basis of his all-round ability. The bursary is awarded to the outstanding youngster in the Great Victoria area who wears a hearing aid.

Presentation was made this afternoon at a ceremony at the Cloverdale School by Mrs. E. LeBus, president of the local hard-of-hearing club.

$5 PREMIUM FINE

For not paying his hospital insurance premium on the due date, W. M. Quinn, 1575 Hillside Avenue, was fined $5 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Pollution Of Water Not Halted By Comminutor At City Sewer Outlet

Water off Clover Point is still polluted despite installation of a $10,820 comminutor on the city's main sewer outlet. The city health department is not recommending bathing on the surrounding beaches as a result.

Daily tests of the water are being made by the department but the results are not satisfactory, it was stated.

The comminutor, a machine to break up sewage before its entry into the sea was purchased by the city and installed May 3 of this year in an effort to end pollution of Dallas Road beaches.

The machine itself cost $10,820 and installation over $4,500. The comminutor has been in operation since May 5.

"The comminutor is doing all that it is expected to do," said one public works department official. Tides send sewage to the beach area, making the water unfit for bathing.

Cyril Jones, city engineer, Dr. J. E. Gayton, health officer, and Ald J. D. Hunter, chairman of the city public works committee, who has been a most active worker in trying to find methods of alleviating the pollution problem, were not available for comment.

Stricken Sailor Flown From Ship For Operation

The sailor, OS. Anthony Bachynski, Winnipeg, was stricken while aboard the Esquimalt-based ship which is on a training cruise in B.C. waters.

When the emergency operation was indicated, the young seaman was rushed to Sandspit landing strip, where he was flown to Vancouver by a Canadian Pacific Air Lines plane.

The 9,000-ton Ontario is due back at Esquimalt Friday.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Keep Gloves Snowy White
For Smart Summertime Wear

By PENNY SAVER

As pure white and fresh as a dewdrop on a gardenia petal... A prescription for your white gloves. When you stop to think that white gloves go to work in the morning, to luncheon, tea in the afternoon, to dinner, theatre in the evening and demurely to church on Sunday their versatility is very evident.

But woe betide the little gal who tries to complete a smart ensemble with a pair of muggy, off-white gloves. As Arthur Godfrey would say, "blah!" They just don't look smart that way.

As reasonably priced as 89 cents a pair and on many sale days you'll see them on counters for as little as 49 pennies, you can budget to have yourself at least three or four pairs. Hand-crocheted gloves seem to be the rage this season. They're cool yet dressy and only 89 cents. In lace, scalloped or simple round cuffs, this type of net gloves is a pet to wash. Boucle runs a very close second in the popularity race and sell for $1.45 a pair.

Chic white fabric gloves with plain or turned up cuff are priced anywhere from $1.50 up. . . doeskin or chamolais $3. . . white kid, $4.75, and white suede, they're washable they tell me, $4.75 a pair.

A simple rule to follow as far as white gloves are concerned is to wash them as soon as you take them off. Nothing like having your laundry bag filled with slightly-soiled gloves and not one pair quite clean enough to wear should an emergency arise.

Best bet for quick, easy washing is to work up fluffy lads with a mild soap. Don't just rub the gloves together but rather keep your gloves on while you wash them—they'll keep their shape better, and you'll be able to see the dirt that has yet to be washed away.

If the fingertips and seams are particularly grubby, scrub them with a soft brush and wash them as though you were washing your hands. Might as well rinse them same way, with the gloves still on.

After you've rinsed your mittens, dry them on a towel, then remove the gloves—easy, now, so they'll hold their shape—and place them flat on a towel.

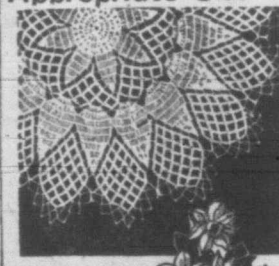

If you've got two seconds, press the gauntlet or cuff just before it's dry, but mind that iron is not too warm.

Of course, if you've bought a pair of $1 nylon gloves you'll get away with just washing and drying the time-savers, in no time flat!

Kid gloves, and you probably don't wear them every day but instead keep them for special occasions, don't usually take too kindly to a tubbing. It's worth the 35 pennies or so, to have them cleaned.

By the way, Castile soap is the doeskin remedy for cleanliness and leaving just a bit of soap in the gloves makes them softer.

Answer: Whether 14 years is too great a difference between the ages of a husband and wife depends altogether upon the temperament of the man and woman. YOUR BABY
AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

At times I am confounded at the demands made upon me, to answer questions in the column about which the writers are so embarrassed they won't even sign their names to a private letter! Questions of abnormal sexual behavior do not belong in the column and I would be happy if such correspondents would include a self-addressed and stamped envelope so that I could write them personally.

Frantic: You need the advice of a marriage counselor. Talk to your minister, rabbi or priest. Consult your local family society. Not only do you need help in solving this very serious situation, but your husband needs help, too. Maybe he could get it through his veteran's organization, for rehabilitation of veterans, psychiatrically as well as physically, it is necessary for the health of family life. Do this. I am sure you are eager to save your home. As you should recognize, it would be impossible to print your letter in any newspaper.

Mrs. J. S. wants to warn mothers against the use of strong bleaches for the baby's diapers. She contends that no matter how weak the solution there is a burning sensation of the skin when the garment is worn.

Our leaflet No. 86, "How to Be a Good Parent," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

You'll Prove an Expert Jam Maker
The First Time you try this Easy, 5-Point, Short-Boil Way!

The modern, short-boil way of making jam with CERTO is so quick, easy and sure it's hard to believe . . . until you try it!

It's the natural way, too, because CERTO is fruit pectin (the natural substance in fruit that causes it to "jell") in concentrated form. These 5 points, typical of CERTO recipes, explain how CERTO simplifies jam making.

Follow the Recipes Exactly
Under the label of every CERTO bottle is a book of tested recipes . . . one for each fruit because different fruits need different handling. RESULTS ARE SURE if you follow the simple directions EXACTLY. Get CERTO at your grocer's.

Look for the Book of 78 Tested Recipes under the label "CERTO" is a trade-mark owned by General Foods, Ltd.

- ONE MINUTE BOIL
With CERTO you don't have to "boil down" your fruit to make it set. You boil hard ONE MINUTE only. That cuts down by two-thirds the time needed for making jam the old, long-boil way!
- 2 lbs. FULLY RIPE FRUIT
You use RIPE fruit at the peak of flavor and color (Long-boil recipes call for under-ripe fruit.) The one-minute boil does not dull this lively natural color or spoil the ripe fruit taste. So your jam keeps the taste and color of fresh fruit.
- 3 lbs. of SUGAR
A pound of jam made with CERTO contains no more sugar than a pound made the old long-boil way.
- 4 ozs. of CERTO
You add a half-bottle (4 ozs.) of CERTO to ensure the correct ratio of pectin to fruit and sugar for a perfect set. That ends guesswork. CERTO helps all fruits to jell perfectly.
- 5 lbs. of JAM
There's no "boiling down" with CERTO, so you average a 50% greater yield from the same amount of fruit. You get about 5 lbs. of jam where long-boil recipes would only yield about 3 lbs!

MR. AND MRS. HUGH JOHNSON

Future Home In Vancouver For Bride Olive Cameron

A home in Vancouver awaits Mr. and Mrs. Hugh "Bud" McGill Johnson following their honeymoon motor trip to Yellow Point, V.I.

Vows were exchanged by the couple in a quiet ceremony in St. Matthias Church Saturday afternoon, of interest here and on the mainland.

The bride, Miss Olive Beatrice Cameron, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Cameron, 304 Beechwood Avenue, and Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dale, 725 Belton Avenue.

For the service read by Rev. J. L. Sandercock, the bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a full-skirted, ankle-length frock of pure white French lace, worn over glistening taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with softly rounded collar on the high neckline and tiny cap sleeves.

Her mother's confirmation veil, cascading from a white lace cap, was worn by the bride, and she completed her costume with a double-strand pearl necklace, gift of the groom. In her colonial bouquet were pink rosebuds, pink and white carnations and swainsona.

Mrs. Alan F. Cameron, honor matron for her sister-in-law, wore a ballerina-length gown of frosted blue taffeta, with long, fitted bodice, puff collar and cap sleeves. Short blue nylon gloves matched her gown and she wore pink carnations in her hair, and carried a Colonial bouquet of pastel-toned flowers. Thomas Kelly was best man.

Immediate family members were received at a buffet supper following the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. A bride's cake, decorated with white bells and silver leaves, was placed on the table, where rosebuds and white candles in silver candelabra, created the attractive setting.

Griffith Cameron proposed a toast to his sister's future happiness.

White accessories and yellow shortie coat complemented the grey gabardine dressmaker suit the bride donned for the wedding trip. Her corsage bouquet was of gardenias.

Her hand-made beaded headdress in style of the Dior crowns was misted by embroidered veiling falling to finger length. Her tiny gold cross necklace and matching earrings were gifts of the groom, and she carried red roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, sister of the bride, Victoria, and Miss Helene Lucky, wore tiered net ballerina frocks with net butterfly jackets and shoes to match. Mrs. Campbell was in soft taupe, and Miss Lucky in azure blue. They carried camellias in yellow sulphur tones.

Crops Improved By Rain In Many Prairie Areas

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prairie crops are looking better because of week-end rain—everywhere but in recently-flooded areas of the Red River valley, where farms still have too much moisture.

Rain came just in time to avert drying out of Alberta grainlands, a Canadian Press survey today showed. And in Saskatchewan, a three-day drenching brought badly needed moisture to central and northwest regions.

In Manitoba, outside the flooded areas, an inch of rain built up reserve moisture that will be valuable when the hot suns of July strike. But in sections saturated by flood water,

GOVT. ACTION URGED TO END CANADA'S SHORTAGE OF NURSES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Miss Ethel Cryderman of Toronto, president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, thinks Canada's chronic nurse shortage will become a "national emergency" unless immediate action is taken.

"The shortage will grow immeasurably worse unless tackled realistically by the government and all groups concerned," she told the opening session of the 25th biennial conference of the association Monday.

Miss Cryderman urged government support of nursing schools and a Dominion-wide study "to provide sound foundation for constructive planning of present and future nursing services."

Deteriorating crops in southern Alberta were helped by rain, ranging from light showers to two inches. In some cases, however, it was feared the rain had come too late.

The general outlook is more encouraging although the hay crop will be light. Beets and canning crops benefited.

Precipitation from April 1 to June 21—before the week-end—throughout Alberta averaged one-half or less than normal. Only two districts—in the Peace River area—report slightly above normal rainfall.

One in every 20 Alberta farms has been affected by soil drifting, with the situation bad in the central, northern and Medicine Hat regions. Grasshoppers are causing damage in the drought area, but they are being controlled.

The only Saskatchewan area not touched by the week-end drenching was the extreme north-east. Agricultural Minister I. C. Nollett described the rains as "marvelous."

Saskatoon reported a rainfall total last week of more than 2 1/4 inches.

Study To Be Made Of Bus Service

Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt appointed Councillors William H. Dallaway and Alex. Speirs to investigate the problem of a better bus service between Craigflower Road at Tillicum and the Island Highway at a council meeting Monday night. A petition had been sent in by residents of Craigflower, Shirley and Foreshaw Roads.

48th Vets Hold Reunion Dinner

The 48th Battalion C.E.F. Association held their annual reunion dinner, Saturday night, just 35 years, less one day, since they embarked for overseas on June 25, 1915, under the command of Lt.-Col. W. J. H. Holmes. More than 100 members of the association were present at the banquet, including 20 members from Vancouver.

Chairman was Jack Dirom, president of the association.

Sidewalk Construction Endorsed By Esquimalt

Esquimalt Council Monday endorsed the recent action of Councillor A. C. Wurtele who ordered the construction of a sidewalk on the north side of Wollaston Street.

Queried by Councillor G. R. Guillemaud, Councillor Wurtele said the cost of the sidewalk was $300. It was pointed out Councillor Wurtele should have brought the matter before the council before ordering construction of the sidewalk.

Councillor Guillemaud said it would bring in an endless trail of petitions for sidewalks if the matter was not considered by the council before permission for construction had been granted.

TURN DOWN PETITION

Later in the evening, councillors turned down the petition signed by seven residents of the south side of Wollaston Street asking for a sidewalk between house numbers 837 and 883.

"They are fortunate in having a sidewalk on one side of the street," said Councillor William H. Dallaway. He said Lampson Street had no sidewalk. The councillor said he would like to see sidewalks on streets without one before some streets began to get one on each side of the road.

Councillors agreed to inform the petitioners there would be no possibility of a sidewalk on the south side of Wollaston Street this year.

Paper making was introduced into Europe by the Moors and cotton fibre paper was first made in Spain about the 11th century.

Britain Backs U.N. Action On Korea War

Asks Members Give
All Necessary Aid

LONDON (Reuter)—Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons tonight that the British representative would support a resolution calling for aid to Southern Korea, to be introduced in the U.N. Security Council by the United States.

Attlee said he understood the United States resolution would recommend that members of the United Nations furnish such assistance to the Republic of Korea as may be necessary to repel armed attack.

His announcement was cheered.

Attlee said that after the bitter experience of the last 35 years, salvation was dependent on prompt and effective measures to resist aggression wherever it might occur. The situation was of "undoubted gravity."

Winston Churchill thanked Attlee for "making the House acquainted with this grave situation." He said that unity "dominated the whole House when questions of this gravity seem to touch on the principle of freedom and law for which we stand."

Liberal Leader Clement Davies said he echoed Churchill's words. Attlee read President Truman's statement ordering help for South Korea.

Vancouver Woman Feared In Korea

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four Vancouver women are anxiously awaiting word of their sister, believed to be the only Canadian Salvation Army worker in Korea. She is Brigadier Ada Irwin, missionary in charge of finances at the Salvation Army headquarters in Seoul, Southern Korea.

Brig. Irwin has been doing missionary work in the Korean capital since August, 1947. Her last letter reported she was well and was making plans for her first holidays since her return to Korea following the Second World War. She was among missionaries ordered out of Korea by the Japanese shortly before Pearl Harbor. She had worked in the Seoul mission since 1926.

OVERSTAYED TOURIST PERMIT

Subjected To Brutal Torture In Mexican Border Jail Say Couple

MONTREAL (BUP)—An Australian couple today described two days of "torture and brutality" they suffered in a Mexican border jail because they had overstayed a tourist permit.

Vera Tremewen, a commercial artist, and her husband, resident in Montreal for the past three years, told how they were thrown into jail last May 27 at Matamoros, a Mexican border town across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, Tex.

Tremewen said, "That was our first and last visit to Mexico."

"We advise Canadians who are planning to visit Mexico to think twice before they buy a ticket," he added.

The artist said he and his wife were taken to jail by three Mexican policemen after they were stopped at the border by immigration officials. They were thrown into separate cells, he added.

Rev. Merritt Kenneth Kirks, 27, pastor of the Christian Church in Mendon, Mo., sits in jail parlor after signing a written statement that he criminally assaulted a 14-year-old girl and slugged her 12 and 13-year-old companions. Kirks told officers he served with the infantry in Europe and was wounded in the head and captured two weeks before the war ended. His wound was never treated. The pastor's entire flock has given him their sympathy. (NEA Telephoto)

Two Children Die After Lamp Fires House

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Two children were burned to death in their log farm home at nearby Charlton when a match was dropped into a pool of kerosene after it spilled from a lamp. The dead are Stanley Aldred, three, and his sister, Diane, five, children of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Aldred.

Another child, Delbert, 13, who was left in charge of his eight brothers and sisters while his parents attended a theatre at Englehart, 10 miles from Charlton, said he was attempting to light the lamp when the match fell and ignited the fuel.

Flames immediately spread to the ceiling and efforts of neighbors to battle the blaze were hopeless.

Elaine, eight, is credited with carrying her eight-month-old sister, Linda, to safety as flames roared her crib.

OTTAWA (BUP)—Commons approved a $40,000,000 government program today for atomic energy development, national research and munitions control. Approval of $9,874,808 for the National Research Council and $6,170,530 for operation of the atomic energy plant at Chalk River, came quickly after a debate on coal board expenditures. Howe went before Parliament the day after it had approved a $445,000,000 defence budget, the largest peacetime commitment of its kind ever passed by Parliament.

Three Trains Cancelled By Gt. Northern

SEATTLE (AP)—The Great Northern Railway canceled three passenger train departures and a spokesman said additional cancellations are expected later today.

The spokesman said the railroad does not expect a complete shutdown of passenger service. The runs affected were the Cascadian to Spokane and the early morning locals to Vancouver, B.C., and Portland. The G.N. morning streamliner departed for Vancouver, however.

Monday the railroad placed an embargo on freight.

The cancellations resulted from a tightening of picket lines by striking switchmen and difficulty in obtaining crews, the G.N. said.

U.S. TENNIS STARS WIN AT WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UP)—The two top hopes of the U.S. to win the classic Wimbledon tennis championships, Billy Talbot of New York and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., breezed into the third round today with boring ease.

Talbot, seeded second to Frank Sedgman of Australia, needed none of his court cunning to whip Marcel Cren of Egypt, 6-1, 6-3, 6-0, in his second straight triumph of the men's singles competition.

Miss Brough, top-seeded and defending champion, drew a first round bye and scored a top-sided 6-0, 6-1 victory over Mrs. Lorna Brighton of Britain in the second round.

The victories of those Yanks, scored in hot, sultry weather before a women-dominated crowd of 20,000 were part of a general advance of favored players.

Only one of the eight Americans entered hit the dust today. He was 19-year-old Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, who was unseeded.

He didn't stand a chance against Britain's Tony Mottram as he lost, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Irv Dorfman of New York, seeded 14th, also anticipated trouble but didn't get it as he rolled over Enrique Morea of Argentina, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Aid Offered Flood Victims In Virginia

WEST UNION, W.Va. (UP)—Friends and relatives offered money and shelter today to homeless victims of the flash floods that left at least 33 dead and millions of dollars of property damage.

Officials said many of the scores of families whose homes were destroyed crowded into the undamaged homes of more fortunate friends and relatives who escaped the Saturday night torrent.

The rest slept on cots and ate at a temporary kitchen set up at West Union High School where national disaster staff members of the Red Cross established relief headquarters.

The bodies of 25 persons swept away by the deluge that struck sleeping villages without warning have been recovered, state police said. Eight other men, women and children still were missing and presumed dead.

The missing were from three Smithburg, W.Va., families virtually wiped out when a 35-foot wall of water crashed down on the village of 200 population.
